WALTON TRAILING IN PRIMARY

OUSTED CHIEF OF OKLAHOMA RUNS SECOND

Close Race In Sooner State To Select The Democratic Senatorial Nominee --Paulen Leads In Kansas.

(Associated Press.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—Congressman E. B. Howard of Tulsa, klan favored candidate, held a slight lead over J. C. Walton, ousted governor and klan opponent, in the race for the democratic nomination for the United States senate as returns from yesterday's primary trickled in today.

Unofficial returns from 1,137 precincts of the 2,996 in the state gave Howard 37,482 and Walton 33,814. The three other candidates in the race are apparently out of the running.

In the republican senatorial contest, W B Pine of Okmulgee, klan endorsed candidate, hada lead of nearly 8,000 over his nearest opponent, Eugene Lorton, Tulsa publisher and adversary of the klan, when returns from 456 precincts were tabulated

Paulen Ahead In Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, August 6.—A neck and neck race developed early today in the contest for the republican nomination for governor in Kansas, but with Lieut Governor Ben S Paulen maintaining his early lead over Clyde M. Reed of Parsons, and former Governor W. R. Stubbs. Returns from 614 precincts out of 2,879 in the state in yesterday's primary gave Paulen, who carried the Ku Klux Klan endorsement, a margin of 1,795 votes over Reed, with Stubbs separated from second place by only 25 votes. The vote:

Paulen 15,389; Reed 13,594; Stubbs 13,569.

Lead Is Increased.

When 756 complete precincts out of 2,579 in Kansas had been tabulated shortly before noon today, Ben S. Paulen of Fredonia, had taken a commanding lead over Clyde M. Reed and W. R. Stubbs in the republican race for the gubernatorial nomination in yesterday's primary. The figures were: Paulen, 24,882; Reed, 18,764; Stubbs, 19,361.

United States Senator Arthur Capper appeared assured of renomination on the republican ticket by a vote of 2 to 1 over his two opponents on incomplete returns. In only one county—Pawnee—was he behind, and there only four precincts had reported. Returns from 605 precincts gave: Capper 30,622; Sheffield Ingalls 10,605; Tom D. Smith 2,918.

Davis Renominated.

Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, the only democrat elected on the state ticket in 1922, was renominated by an overwhelming majority. Returns from 363 precincts showed him running more than 3 to 1 ahead of Harry S. Burton, former mayor of Kansas City, Kas. The totals: Davis 7,624, Burton 1,906.

The vote for democratic nomination for the United States senate was running close, with the balloting split five ways. Returns from 340 precincts gave:

James Malone, 2,006, Ed T Hackney, 1,962; Ben S. Gaitskill, 1,739, S. H. Carr, 1,091, Edward Sapp, 932.

What effect the Ku Klux Klan issue had on the voting was a matter of speculation. While Paulen, the klan endorsee for the republican gubernatorial nomination, was in the lead in the three cornered fight, Attorney General C. B. Griffith, who drew opposition from the klan because of his suit to oust that organization from the state, was ahead of his nearest opponent nearly 2 to 1.

Incumbents in congress were leading in all the districts where there were contests.

Baker Leads in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 6.—Returns from 1,757 precincts out of 3,987 in Missouri's primary election yesterday showed Sam A Baker, former state superintendent of public schools, leading his nearest opponent by 16,365 votes, in the republican race for governor.

In the democratic contest, Dr Arthur W Nelson of Bunceton, led by 36,787 on the basis of returns from 2,092 precincts.

Both candidates carried Kansas city but ran poorly in St. Louis.

Returns from 1,757 precincts out of 3,987 in Missouri in the republican gubernatorial contest, follows: Baker 86,047, Victor J Miller, St Louis 49,682, Hiram Lloyd, St Louis, 47,115.

Returns from 2,092 precincts in the democratic contest are:

Nelson 94,475, Floyd E Jacobs Kansas City, 57,888, Henry S Priest St Louis, 34, 631 George H Moore, St Louis 36,053, Fowler Smith Lofton, St Louis, 1,788.

Later returns from 1,950 precincts out of 3,987 in Missouri, republican contest for governor, give Baker 78,412, Miller 58,926, Lloyd 56,358.

Returns from 2,312 precincts in the democratic governor contest, give Nelson, 102,491; Jacobs 63,782, Priest, 38,235, Moore 36,156; Loftin, 1,851.

Stalk of Corn, 13 Feet 6 Inches Tall, On Display

A stalk of corn 13 feet 6 inches tall, raised four miles east of Wymore, was brought to Lincoln Wednesday by S. G. Linch, 1622 F street, who will place it on display in the window of the Miller & Paine store.

The stalk had two large ears on it. Mr. Linch said. It was raised on the dry land farm of Mr. Linch's brother, J. P. Linch.

Other corn in the field ranged from 11 to 12 feet in height.

DEATH RATE IS LOW FOR JULY

City Health Department Statement Shows 7.8 Per 1,000 For Month.

July this year shows a very low death rate of 7.8 per 1,000 inhabitants, according to the health department. This is the lowest July rate since 1919 when the rate was still lower, 6.9. The next low rate was 1912, 6.9, the same as 1919. 1910 shows a still lower rate of 5.53. The lowest July rate is 4.8 in 1898.

The smaller number of elderly people in the early days explains this low rate and others slightly higher. The highest July rate appears in 1915 when it reached 13.44, no particular disease, but a greater variety of diseases. The excess deaths occurred between the ages of 20 and 40, which is very unusual.

The total number of deaths for the month of July was 33 against 60 for the same month last year. Among the 33 deaths there were but 3 under one year, making a rate of 27.5 per 1,000 live births against 9 in July a year ago giving a rate of 73.5. The total number of deaths to August 1 this year is 416 against 429 during the same period last year, resulting in 13 less for 1924.

Charles Ponzi Finishes Term; Leaves Prison

(Associated Press.)

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 6.—Charles Ponzi his term as a federal prisoner ended, left the Plymouth jail today. Accompanied by a deputy sheriff, he went to Boston to try to arrange for the furnishing of $14,000 bail required of him on charges brought in the State courts in connection with his financial schemes.

Four years ago Ponzi attracted the attention of the whole country by his offer to pay huge interest on short term investments in his Securities Exchange Co., of Boston which purported to operate a plan of dealing in international postal reply coupons and to be making great profits through the depreciation in foreign exchange. Thousands of persons entrusted millions to him and many of them received the promised profits.

Finally the authorities stepped in and closed up the business. Ponzi was convicted in the Federal court on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud the testimony indicating that the postal coupon scheme had not been operated as represented.

Ponzi's company went into the hands of receivers his palatial home in Lexington was sold for the benefit of creditors and he was sentenced to jail for five years. With the usual remittance for good behavior, this term expired today.

ALIENIST SAYS RICHARD LOEB ACTUAL SLAYER

Mystery Of Which Youth Struck Blow Which Killed Robert Franks Cleared Up By Testimony Of Dr. Bernard Glueck.

ADMISSION BROUGHT OUT BY BACHRACH

Loeb Remains Impassive As Mental Expert Testifies Former Slew Schoolboy, While Leopold Smiles And Talks With Counsel.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Dr. Bernard Glueck of New York, testified at the Franks hearing today that Richard Loeb throughout his mental examination of him had admitted that he struck the blow with a cold chisel which killed Bobby Franks.

Throughout the investigation of the connection of Loeb and Leopold with the murder, the matter of who actually struck the fatal blow had been the unsolved mystery. Both youths, while confessing the kidnaping and slaying, accused the other.

The defense allenists previously on the witness stand had failed, they testified, to ask the boys as to which had struck the fatal blow, and the state had been unable to bring out the point.

Loeb remained impassive when Dr Glueck testified that he had killed Bobby Franks. Leopold leaned forward, a grimace on his face, smiled slowly and talked with counsel.

The statement that Loeb really had struck the fatal blow was brought out under questioning by Benjamin Bachrach of defense counsel.

"Did Loeb say who struck the blow?" asked Bachrach.

"He told me throughout all details, that he, Loeb, struck the blow," replied Dr. Glueck.

Courtroom Well Filled.

Today began hot and for the first time since the hearing started thirteen days, bailiffs were not swamped by spectators, although the courtroom was well filled.

Asked how long he would speak when the hearing reached the argument stage, Clarence S. Darrow, veteran chief counsel for the defense, replied to the suggestion it might take him a whole day by saying:

"An American magazine once cabled Oscar Wilde for terms for writing 60,000 words on some subject, and received the reply. 'I did not know there were that many words.'"

Mr. Darrow indicated he might find enough words for half a court session or one hour.

Dr. Glueck (pronounced Glick with a short "i"), resumed his testimony at the point left off yesterday, Benjamin Bachrach examining.

Bachrach Interrupts.

Talking along in his monotone, Mr. Bachrach suddenly interrupted Dr. Glueck with a question as to whether Loeb had admitted who struck the fatal blow. Dr. Glueck replied that Loeb had admitted throughout his examination of him that "he, Loeb, struck the blow."

Dr. Glueck said he had observed the youths in the courtroom.

"It seems to me they absolutely do not take in emotionally the meaning of this whole situation," he said. "As they enter and depart, as I watch them, in their seats, it seems to me they appear to be attending a college play of some sort.

"Did Loeb tell you anything else, Doctor?" asked Mr. Bachrach.

"About hanging, in the most unemotional way that it would be too bad he would not get to read about it."

Dr. Glueck said he had examined a lot of so-called hardened criminals and in Loeb's emotional response the comparison was extremely significant. He shows refinement and intellect, yet he registers no emotional reaction to this crime," Dr. Glueck said.

KEARNEY SCHOOL BONDS DEFEATED

(Special to the Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., Aug. 6.—Kearney has no school bonds to sell. The fifty-four per cent of the legal voters of the district which seemed to give a safe margin of three per cent above the requirements of the law has vanished like the summer dewdrop in the hot sun, and the board of education is debating the amount and means of getting a special school bond election before the people some time in September.

A re check of the tax lists brought to light 168 names on the personal tax list which had never been listed on the school census and 24 names on the real estate tax list. At least one family had moved into the district 40 days before the petitions were circulated and these parents were qualified voters. The final checkup shows that the original petition was short six voters of the required 51 per cent. It has also been shown that 19 persons were assessed between the first and tenth days of April when the petitions were filed.

The certified check of the bond buyers has been returned and Kearney is about to go to the polls to fight out the school bond issue in the manner originally urged by a large number of people who were opposed to the petition method of voting.

Abandon Much Corn In Iowa

DES MOINES, Aug. 6.—Thousands of acres of corn in the Missouri river lowlands have been overtaken by weeds and will be abandoned while few fields between the Des Moines and Missouri rivers will yield about thirty bushels per acre, according to the weekly weather and crop bulletin issued by state and federal observers here today. SIEGE OF MINE IS CONTINUING

Armed Guard Maintain Vigil To Prevent Escape Of Three Fugitives.

Reported One of Cornered Men May Be Former Employe of The Mine.

(Associated Press.)

PALISADE, Colo., Aug. 6.—The siege of the Palisade mine continued today with no appreciable change in the situation. The three fugitives, suspected of being responsible for the robbery and theft of $15,508.71 in stamps and cash from the Palisade postoffice early last Saturday morning, still are in hiding within the mine with members of the sheriff's standing guard with loaded guns at the main portal and two air shafts of the mine.

A new difficulty that has served further to interfere with the plans for the capture of the three fugitives entered into the siege today when it become known that a result of the suspension of mining the coal shortage in Palisade is becoming acute. As a result, volunteers from the force of twenty miners on duty at the mine, have been requested to report for work tomorrow.

The authorities, however, are laying down instructions to govern the men who are expected to return, that leads to the belief taht the identity of at least one of the fugitives is known.

These orders are the result of the finding of traces of a crippled hand print within the mine during the search. The hand mark follows closely that made by a former employe of the mine and for that reason precautions against the supplying of arms, ammunition and food will be taken the miners return to work. Authorities refuse to divulge the name of the suspect.

OBJECTIONS OF GERMANS READ

American Experts Do Not Believe Exceptions Will Prove Serious Bar To Making Of Dawes Plan Effective.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 6.—American experts who read the German memorandum and covering letter submitted to the allies today said they did not believe the objections raised were likely to prove a serious bar to the success of the program the interallied body had worked out for making the Dawes plan effective. It was announced that the "big fourteen" of the conference would resassemble this afternoon.

The memoranda was a broad survey from the German point of view of the whole program of the interallied conference as worked out for the launching of the Dawes plan. It presented the German viewpoint regarding the experts report on defaults and sanctions, on the fiscal and economic unity of Germany, and on the transfe rof reparation payments, the three divisions into which the conference work was divided.

In the German covering letter, two important questions outside the conference were raised, the military evacuation of the Ruhr and the other zones outside the Rhineland, and the question of retention of allied railway men in the Ruhr.

Urging Evacuation.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Pressure is being brought on the international conference by Dr. Rudolph Brietscheid, leader of the German socialists, and the French socialists who are now in London to effect immediate military evacuation of the Ruhr.

The proponents of immediate evacuation indicate that the German government is likely to fall if its delegation returns to Berlin without a promise that the Ruhr and other occupied districts will be immediately free of foreign troops.

This question, although outside the report of the experts, is the moment transcending all others.

Suit For $40,000 Is Outgrowth of Husband's Death

Mrs. Ethel Rakestraw, widow of the late Niel T. Rakestraw, who was killed at Polk, Neb., April 1, 1924, filed a suit in District court Wednesday afternoon asking a judgment of $40,000 against the Nebraska Gas and Electric company, the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company and the city of Polk for the death of her husband.

It is set out in the petition that Rakestraw was employed by the Telephone company at the time of his death and while repairing wires on the top of the Polk city hall came in contact with one of the Gas and Electric company's wires carrying 3,000 volts of electricity and was instantly killed.

DAVIS SPEECH SENT TO BRYAN

J. A. Edgerton of Washington, D. C., Arrives in Lincoln As Messenger From Democratic Presidential Nominee.

BRINGS ADVANCE DRAFT OF ACCEPTANCE ADDRESS

Former Nebraskan, Friend of Both Candidates on National Ticket, May Take Back Copy of Governor's Notification Talk.

Bringing an advance copy of the acceptance speech prepared by John W Davis, presidential candidate of the democratic party, for delivery to Governor Bryan, the nominee for vice president, J. A. Edgerton of Washington, D. C., reached Lincoln Tuesday night. He called at the executive mansion at 9 a. m., Wednesday and performed the specific mission for which he was sent.

Being a former Nebraskan and a personal friend of Governor Bryan, and possessing at the same time a close acquaintance with Mr. Davis, the Washington man was sent as a messenger bearing the latter's initial campaign pronouncement, which is not to be released until the speech is made at Clarksburg, W. Va., on August 11.

It is surmised, also, that Mr. Edgerton may have been entrusted by the candidate for president with confidential matters to be communicated verbally to Governor Bryan, and that when he returns east he will take back to Mr. Davis a copy of the vice presidential nominee's address to be given in Lincoln upon the occasion of his notification here, August 18.

Edgerton told Governor Bryan, during their interview at the executive mansion Wednesday, that he would be in Nebraska for several days. He has relatives at Kearney whom he may visit while in the state.

Twenty-five years ago, Edgerton was making his home in Lincoln. He was affiliated with the old populist party and supported W. J. Bryan for the presidency in the latter's three campaigns. He was a newspaper writer and the author of a number of poems. He pursued his literary career after leaving Lincoln. During the Wilson administration, he was an assistant to Postmaster General Burleson. For several years past, he has been engaged in lecturing and writing.

Governor Bryan said that he met Mr. Edgerton during the recent democratic national convention in New York, and that the latter was in his rooms at the hotel a good deal of the time. It is probable that Edgerton will be connected with the management of the national campaign. He is a nephew of the late J. B Edgerton, who at one time was a member of the old state board of transportation in Nebraska.

Light Rains In Parts Of State

Light rains fell over some parts of the Lincoln division Tuesday night, according to the Burlington's report. The rain was generally heavy over the eastern part of the Wymore division and the western part of the McCook division. Some light showers were reported on the eastern half of the McCook division.

The official report of the weather bureau for the twenty-four hours ending at 8a. m., Wednesday is:

Governor Gets Squirrel Skin Skull Cap Which May Be Used For Campaigning In Missouri

Members of the Tecumseh squirrel club, a nonpartisan organization of Lincoln and Tecumseh citizens, are presenting to Governor Bryan, one of their number, a skull cap made of the skins of three bunnies which he shot and killed last fall during the club's annual hunt in Johnson and Nemaha counties. Announcement to this effect is made by C. A. Lord, chairman of he local committee on arrangements for the Bryan notification on August 18.

A letter received by Mr. Lord from J. B. Douglas of Tecumseh, who is president, secretary and treasurer of the club, says the cap has been made and is being sent by parcel post to Lincoln. It bears a tag on the inside showing the date of the squirrel hunt and also the date of manufacture.

"Governor Bryan is vice president of the club," said Mr. Lord, "and the members thought that a trophy of this kind might be sort of lucky in his campaign for vice presiden of he United Sates. If he doesn't care to use it regularly, he can do so at least when touring the timber country down in Missouri, the home of Jim Reed. The folks down there will sure vote for Bryan when they find out that he's a squirrel hunter."

Mr. Lord guarantees that the cap will be a good fit and look fine on the dome of the Nebraska executive.

It is convertible and can be worn with either side out. The effect will be as striking one way as the other, if not more so, declares Mr. Lord. For hot weather, he suggests that the smooth side be worn next to the skin, while for cool autumn evenings when the nominee for vice president speaks in the open air he can turn the hairy surface in and avoid taking cold.

The cap is made from the skins of red squirrels and is finished in the natural color. This may give the impression that the governor is red-headed, and thus win some additional votes, Lord thinks.

It will not be worn at the vice presidential notification, which requires something more formal. Mr Bryan will stick to the conventional black skull cap for that occasion.

Won't Desert Club.

Governor Bryan is a charter member of the squirrel club and has taken part in its annual hunts ever since it was organized ten years ago. He has promised to do so again this year, no matter whether he is successful at the election or not. The hunts are held during the month of November.

Acording to his fellow members, the governor is a crack shot and squirrels seldom get away when he draws a bead on them. He uses an automatic revolver for ordinary shooting. The rest of the hunters use rifles. Shotguns are barred as not furnishing an opportunity for the best marksmanship.

Las year 92 squirrels were killed. The highest record was 135.

The club is divided about evenly as to republican and democratic political affiliations.

The governor, Mr Lord, Fred E. Bodie, and R F. Reynolds are he Lincoln members. Those at a Tecumseh are President J. B Douglas, Lee Heskett, S. D. Parker, Joe V. Johnson, Harold F. Sullivan and Warren Ingersoll.

CITY VALUATION SHOWS INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Court Decisions Make It Smaller Than Had Been Anticipated.

Dayton Says If Levy Is Reduced Some Improvements Must Wait.

City Treasurer George Dayton announced Wednesday morning that the valuation upon which the city levy for 1924-25 will be based had been certified to him by Tax Commissioner Mathews as being $99,233,215, or approximately $3,000,000 more than last year. Of the total $73,561,130 is represented in real estate and the balance personal property. The real estate assessment is $4,777,040 larger than a year ago.

The assessed valuation is not as large as he expected, Mr. Dayton said, due to the fact that the city is compelled by court decisions to assess banks at their intangible value, orf 25 per cent of the actual value, while a recent decision of the Lancaster county district court has compelled him to base his assessment of the rolling stock of the railroads at 60 per cent of the actual value. Heretofore the assessment has been made on the actual value.

Mr. Dayton said that on the basis of the figures submitted to him by the tax commissioner he expects to be able to lower the levy but would not hazard an opinion on how much. Last year it was 6.75 mills.

The figures submitted by the tax commissioner show that the personal

SIX TRUSTIES ESCAPE FROM GENEVA HOME

Girls Take State-owned Truck and Disappear From Institution Tuesday Night — No Trace of Missing Ones.

Six inmates of the girls industrial school at Geneva, Neb., stole a Ford truck belonging to the state and made their escape sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, according to information received at the state law enforcement office today.

It was not discovered that the girls were missing until roll call Wednesday morning. The authorities immediately notified all the officers in the surrounding towns and counties and sent out a description of the girls.

They were: Elizabeth Mondon, 18, Omaha, black hair and weighing about 130 pounds; Fay Leigh, wavy dark hair, weight, about 105 pounds; Anna Krause, 18, Falls City, tall, 145 pounds; Margaret Duffield, 18, Lincoln, weighing about 160 pounds, thought to be wearing plaid dress; Alice Cummings, 17, Omaha, weighing about 140 pounds, wearing plaid dress; Dorothy Brown, Omaha, bobbed hair, weighs about 130 pounds wearing tan silk dress.

The girls were all trusties and were sleeping in a room outside of the regular dormitory quarters. They are supposed to have left some time after midnight and to have pushed the truck in which they took their departure for some distance from the home so that the noise of starting it would not be heard at the institution.

No trace of the refugees had been found Wednesday afternoon.

NEW PLANE TO AWAIT WADE IN NOVA SCOTIA

Arrange To Send Aircraft To Pictou Harbor To Permit Flier To Continue Trip With Other Airmen.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Arrangements were completed today by the army air service to send an airplane from Langley Field, Virginia, to Pictou Harbor, Nova Scotia, to be used by Lieutenant Wade from that place over the remaining route of the world flight in company with the two other fliers.

Lieutenant Wade's original craft, the Boston, was wrecked near the Faroe islands. The substitute will be christened the "Boston II." It is the extra Douglas machine used by the pilots during their training for the flight and will be flown from Langley Field by Lieut. George C. McDonald.

Decision to send the new plane to Lieutenant Wade, indicated that small hope was held in air service circles that the wrecked machine could be salvaged.

Both the white house and war department have been besieged since the mishap to Lieutenant Wade to make some arrangement to permit him to finish the flight.

Lieutenant Wade and his mechician, Sergeant Ogden, were picked up by the cruiser Richmond and are expected to proceed to the mainland aboard her.

Hop-Off To Be Delayed.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 6.—Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Erik Nelson, the United States army world aviators, expect to remain here several days following their storm trip from Hoefn Hornafjord, on the eastern Iceland coast yesterday.

The fliers said they could start today on their Greenland flight except for the uncertainty of the situation at Angmagsalik, where the worst ice conditions in years are reported.

Dangerous Lap Ahead.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Safely at Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland, after a strenuous battle against a gale during their five hour trip, from the east coast yesterday, the American army aviators are turning their eyes to far-off Greenland.

Between them and their next goal and along a route which parallels the Arctic circle, stretch 500 miles of bleak water, part of which is blocked by ice fields, conditions being the worst in years for this season.

The Spanish government steamer Gertrude Rask, entrusted with the task of delivering supplies for the airmen at Angamgsalik, their next scheduled stop, reported yesterday by wireless that she was frozen in and drifting with the ice, being unable to fulfill her mission.

The fliers may be faced with the alternative of re-fuelling near the edge of the ice field, landing in the open water near the Gertrude Rask, or flying directly to Ivgitut, on the southwest coast of Greenland, instead of attempting to stop at Angmagsalik.

The airmen do not like the prospect of a 480 mile flight over open water with no certainty of a proper landing place. The reports from Angmagsalik was conflicting, there being no assurance as yet the supply steamer Gertrude Rask, reported caught in the ice, fifteen miles off shore, has been able to deliver her supplies for the airmen's next stop.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF PETIT LARCENY

Denies Taking Goods From Grocery Store and May Appeal Case.

Mrs. J. Carlin, 1735 R street, was tried in Justice Stevens' court Wednesday morning and found guilty of petit larceny. She was fined $10 and costs.

It was charged that Mrs. Carlin, on July 14, stole two pounds of butter, one pound of bacon, five pounds of sugar and a dozen eggs from the Piggly Wiggly store on South Thirteenth street.

Mrs. Carlin denied the charge when on the witness stand saying that she filled her basket with the goods and paid for them as she went out. Then, she discovered that she had forgotten to get a loaf of bread and returned for it. On the way out the second time she was paying for the bread when Roy Curtis, store manager, accused her of not having paid for the other articles, she said.

Curtis testified that he had watched Mrs. Carlin while she was in the store.

Jesse McKee, cashier for the store testified that Mrs. Carlin had not paid for the other articles. Albert Hahn, a customer who was in the store at the time said he saw Mrs. Carlin take the goods.

Mrs Carlin said she intended to appeal the decision.

Make Analysis To Determine Cause Of Woman's Death

The stomach of Mrs Anton Soukoup of Page, Neb., is being examined by University of Nebraska chemists for traces of poisoning or some reason for death from other than natural causes. No report will be given out in Lincoln, Prof. C. J. Frankforter said, but the analysis will be sent directly to County Attorney Cronin of Holt county. Mrs. Soukoup died several days ago under circumstances that aroused the suspicion of Holt county officials.

HEAT CAUSES ONE NEBRASKA DEATH

Richardson County Farmer First To Fall Victim This Season.

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., August 6—The heat wave took toll of the first victim of the season in Richardson county Tuesday, when the mercury climbed to 98 degrees.

Elmer W. Linderman, 54, farmer who lived four miles south of Salem, was overcome by the heat while ridding a neighbor in threshing. He was carried to his home where he died two hours later.

His funeral will be held Sunday.

A timely rain that proved of great benefit to the corn crop halted the climb of the temperature. A total rainfall of .91 of an inch was recorded yesterday afternoon and this morning.

WALTON TRAILING IN PRIMARY

OUSTED CHIEF OF OKLAHOMA RUNS SECOND

Close Race In Sooner State To Select The Democratic Senatorial Nominee --Paulen Leads In Kansas.

(Associated Press.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—Congressman E. B. Howard of Tulsa, klan favored candidate, held a slight lead over J. C. Walton, ousted governor and klan opponent, in the race for the democratic nomination for the United States senate as returns from yesterday's primary trickled in today.

Unofficial returns from 1,137 precincts of the 2,996 in the state gave Howard 37,482 and Walton 33,814. The three other candidates in the race are apparently out of the running.

In the republican senatorial contest, W. B. Pine of Okmulgee, klan endorsed candidate, hada lead of nearly 8,000 over his nearest opponent, Eugene Lorton, Tulsa publisher and adversary of the klan, when returns from 456 precincts were tabulated.

Paulen Ahead In Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, August 6—A neck and neck race developed early today in the contest for the republican nomination for governor in Kansas, but with Lieut. Governor Ben S. Paulen maintaining his early lead over Clyde M. Reed of Parsons, and former Governor W. R. Stubbs. Returns from 614 precincts out of 2,579 in the state in yesterday's primary gave Paulen, who carried the Ku Klux Klan endorsement, a margin of 1,795 votes over Reed, with Stubbs separated from second place by only 25 votes. The vote:

Paulen 15,389; Reed 13,594; Stubbs 13,569.

Lead Is Increased.

When 756 complete precincts out of 2,579 in Kansas had been tabulated shortly before noon today, Ben S. Paulen of Fredonia, had taken a commanding lead over Clyde M. Reed and W. R. Stubbs in the republican race for the gubernatorial nomination in yesterday's primary. The figures were: Paulen, 24,882; Reed, 18,764; Stubbs, 19,361.

United States Senator Arthur Capper appeared assured of renomination on the republican ticket by a vote of 2 to 1 over his two opponents on incomplete returns. In only one county—Pawnee—was he behind, and there only four precincts had reported. Returns from 605 precincs gave: Capper 30,622; Sheffield Ingalls 10,605; Tom D. Smith 2,948.

Davis Renominated.

Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, the only democrat elected on the state ticket in 1922, was renominated by an overwhelming majority. Returns from 363 precincts showed him running more than 3 to 1 ahead of Harry S. Burton, former mayor of Kansas City, Kas. The totals: Davis 7,624; Burton 1,906.

The vote for democratic nomination for the United States senate was running close, with the balloting split five ways. Returns from 340 precincts gave:

James Malone, 2,006; Ed T. Hackney, 1,962; Ben S. Gaitskill, 1,739; S. H. Carr, 1,091; Edward Sapp, 932.

What effect the Ku Klux Klan issue had on the voting was a matter of speculation. While Paulen, the klan endorsee for the republican gubernatorial nomination, was in the lead in the three cornered fight, Attorney General C. B. Griffith, who drew opposition from the klan because of his suit to oust that organization from the state, was ahead of his nearest opponent nearly 2 to 1.

Incumbents in congress were leading in all the districts where there were contests.

Baker Leads in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 6.—Returns from 1,757 precincts out of 3,987 in Missouri's primary election yesterday showed Sam A. Baker, former state superintendent of public schools, leading his nearest opponent by 16,365 votes, in the republican race for governor.

In the democratic contest, Dr. Arthur W. Nelson of Bunceton, led by 36,787 on the basis of returns from 2,092 precincts.

Both candidates carried Kansas city but ran poorly in St. Louis.

Returns from 1,757 precincts out of 3,987 in Missouri in the republican gubernatorial contest, follows: Baker 66,047; Victor J. Miller, St. Louis 49,682; Hiram Lloyd, St. Louis, 47,115.

Returns from 2,092 precincts in the democratic contest are:

Nelson 94,475; Floyd E. Jacobs, Kansas City, 57,688; Henry S. Priest, St. Louis, 34, 691. George H. Moore, St. Louis 32,083; Fowler Smith Loftin, St. Louis, 1,786.

Later returns from 1,980 precincts out of 3,987 in Missouri, republican contest for governor, gave: Baker 76,412; Miller 58,926; Lloyd 56,358.

Returns from 2,312 precincts in the democratic governor contest, give: Nelson, 102,491; Jacobs, 63,782; Priest, 38,235; Moore, 36,156; Loftin, 1,851.

DEATH RATE IS LOW FOR JULY

City Health Department Statement Shows 7.8 Per 1,000 For Month.

July this year shows a very low death rate of 7.8 per 1,000 inhabitants, according to the health department. This is the lowest July rate since 1919 when the rate was still lower, 6.9. The next low rate was 1912, 6.9, the same as 1919. 1910 shows a still lower rate of 5.53. The lowest July rate is 4.8 in 1898.

The smaller number of elderly people in the early days explains this low rate and others slightly higher. The highest July rate appears in 1915 when it reached 13.44, no particular disease, but a greater variety of diseases. The excess deaths occurred between the ages of 20 and 40, which is very unusual.

The total number of deaths for the month of July was 38 against 60 for the same month last year. Among the 38 deaths there were but 3 under one year, making a rate of 27.5 per 1,000 live births against 9 in July a year ago giving a rate of 73.5. The total number of deaths to August 1 this year is 416 against 429 during the same period last year, resulting in 13 less for 1924.

Charles Ponzi Finishes Term; Leaves Prison

(Associated Press.)

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 6.—Charles Ponzi, his term as a federal prisoner ended, left the Plymouth jail today. Accompanied by a deptuy sheriff, he went to Boston to try to arrange for the furnishing of $14,000 bail required of him on charges brought in the State courts in connection with his financial schemes.

Four years ago Ponzi attracted the attention of the whole country by his offer to pay huge interest on short term investments in his Securities Exchange Co., of Boston, which purported to operate a plan of dealing in international postal reply coupons and to be making great profits through the depreciation in foreign exchange. Thousands of persons entrusted millions to him and many of them received the promised profits.

Finally the authorities stepped in and closed up the business. Ponzi was convicted in the Federal court on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, the testimony indicating that the postal coupon scheme had not been operated as represented.

Ponzi's company went into the hands of receivers, his palatial home in Lexington was sold for the benefit of creditors and he was sentenced to jail for five years. With the usual remittance for good behavior, this term expired today.

Stalk of Corn, 13 Feet 6 Inches Tall, On Display

A stalk of corn 13 feet 6 inches tall, raised four miles east of Wymore, was brought to Lincoln Wednesday by S. G. Linch, 1622 F street, who will place it on display in the window of the Miller & Paine store.

The stalk had two large ears on it, Mr. Linch said. It was raised on the dry land farm of Mr. Linch's brother, J. P. Linch.

Other corn in the field ranged from 11 to 12 feet in height.

ALIENIST SAYS RICHARD LOEB ACTUAL SLAYER

Mystery Of Which Youth Struck Blow Which Killed Robert Franks Cleared Up By Testimony Of Dr. Bernard Glueck.

ADMISSION BROUGHT OUT BY BACHRACH

Loeb Remains Impassive As Mental Expert Testifies Former Slew Schoolboy, While Leopold Smiles And Talks With Counsel.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Dr. Bernard Glueck of New York, testified at the Franks hearing today that Richard Loeb throughout his mental examination of him had admitted that he struck the blow with a cold chisel which killed Bobby Franks.

Throughout the investigation of the connection of Loeb and Leopold with the murder, the matter of who actually struck the fatal blow had been the unsolved mystery. Both youths, while confessing the kidnaping and slaying, accused the other.

Two defense alienists previously on the witness stand had failed, they testified, to ask the boys as to which had struck the fatal blow, and the state had been unable to bring out the point.

Loeb remained impassive when Dr. Glueck testified that he had killed Bobby Franks. Leopold leaned forward, a grimace on his face, smiled slowly and talked with counsel.

The statement that Loeb really had struck the fatal blow was brought out under questioning by Benjamin Bachrach of defense counsel.

"Did Loeb say who struck the blow?" asked Bachrach.

"He told me throughout all details, that he, Loeb, struck the blow," replied Dr. Glueck.

Courtroom Well Filled.

Today began hot and for the first time since the hearing started thirteen days, bailiffs were not swamped by spectators, although the courtroom was well filled.

Asked how long he would speak when the hearing reached the argument stage, Clarence S. Darrow, veteran chief counsel for the defense, replied to the suggestion it might take him a whole day by saying:

"An American magazine once cabled Oscar Wilde for terms for writing 60,000 words on some subject, and received the reply: 'I did not know there were that many words.'"

Mr. Darrow indicated he might find enough words for half a court session or one hour.

Dr. Glueck (pronounced Glick with a short "i"), resumed his testimony at the point left off yesterday, Benjamin Bachrach examining.

Bachrach Interrupts.

Talking along in his monotone, Mr. Bachrach suddenly interrupted Dr. Glueck with a question as to whether Loeb had admitted who struck the fatal blow. Dr. Glueck replied that Loeb had admitted throughout his examination of him that "he, Loeb, struck the blow."

Dr. Glueck said he had observed the youths in the courtroom.

"It seems to me they absolutely do not take in emotionally the meaning of this whole situation," he said. "As they enter and depart, as I watch them, in their seats, it seems to me they appear to be attending a college play of some sort.

"Did Loeb tell you anything else, Doctor?" asked Mr. Bachrach.

"About hanging, in the most unemotional way that it would be too bad he would not get to read about it."

Dr. Glueck said he had examined a lot of so-called hardened criminals and in Loeb's emotional response the comparison was extremely significant. He shows refinement and intellect, yet he registers no emotional reaction to this crime," Dr. Glueck said.

KEARNEY SCHOOL BONDS DEFEATED

(Special to the Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., Aug. 6.—Kearney has no school bonds to sell. The fifty-four per cent of the legal voters of the district which seemed to give a safe margin of three per cent above the requirements of the law has vanished like the summer dewdrop in the hot sun, and the board of education is debating the amount and means of getting a special school bond election before the people some time in September.

A re-check of the tax lists brought to light 168 names on the personal tax list which had never been listed on the school census, and 24 names on the real estate tax list. At least one family had moved into the district 40 days before the petitions were circulated and these parents were qualified voters. The final checkup shows that the original petition was short six voters of the required 51 per cent. It has also been shown that 19 persons were assessed between the first and tenth days of April when the petitions were filed.

The certified check of the bond buyers has been returned and Kearney is about to go to the polls to fight out the school bond issue in the manner originally urged by a large number of people who were opposed to the petition method of voting.

Abandon Much Corn In Iowa

DES MOINES, Aug. 6.—Thousands of acres of corn in the Missouri river lowlands have been overtaken by weeds and will be abandoned while few fields between the Des Moines and Missouri rivers will yield about thirty bushels per acre, according to the weekly weather and crop bulletin issued by state and federal observers here today.

SIEGE OF MINE IS CONTINUING

Armed Guard Maintain Vigil To Prevent Escape Of Three Fugitives.

Reported One of Cornered Men May Be Former Employe of The Mine.

(Associated Press.)

PALISADE, Colo., Aug. 6.—The siege of the Palisade mine continued today with no appreciable change in the situation. The three fugitives, suspected of being responsible for the robbery and theft of $15,508.71 in stamps and cash from the Palisade postoffice early last Saturday morning, still are in hiding within the mine with members of the sheriff's standing guard with loaded guns at the main portal and two air shafts of the mine.

A new difficulty that has served further to interfere with the plans for the capture of the three fugitives entered into the siege today when it become known that a result of the suspension of mining the coal shortage in Palisade is becoming acute. As a result, volunteers from the force of twenty miners on duty at the mine, have been requested to report for work tomorrow.

The authorities, however, are laying down instructions to govern the men who are expected to return, that leads to the belief taht the identity of at least one of the fugitives is known.

These orders are the result of the finding of traces of a crippled hand print within the mine during the search. The hand mark follows closely that made by a former employe of the mine and for that reason precautions against the supplying of arms, ammunition and food will be taken the miners return to work. Authorities refuse to divulge the name of the suspect.

OBJECTIONS OF GERMANS READ

American Experts Do Not Believe Exceptions Will Prove Serious Bar To Making Of Dawes Plan Effective.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 6.—American experts who read the German memorandum and covering letter submitted to the allies today said they did not believe the objections raised were likely to prove a serious bar to the success of the program the interallied body had worked out for making the Dawes plan effective. It was announced that the "big fourteen" of the conference would resassemble this afternoon.

The memoranda was a broad survey from the German point of view of the whole program of the interallied conference as worked out for the launching of the Dawes plan. It presented the German viewpoint regarding the experts report on defaults and sanctions, on the fiscal and economic unity of Germany, and on the transfe rof reparation payments, the three divisions into which the conference work was divided.

In the German covering letter, two important questions outside the conference were raised, the military evacuation of the Ruhr and the other zones outside the Rhineland, and the question of retention of allied railway men in the Ruhr.

Urging Evacuation.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Pressure is being brought on the international conference by Dr. Rudolph Brietscheid, leader of the German socialists, and the French socialists who are now in London to effect immediate military evacuation of the Ruhr.

The proponents of immediate evacuation indicate that the German government is likely to fall if its delegation returns to Berlin without a promise that the Ruhr and other occupied districts will be immediately free of foreign troops.

This question, although outside the agenda of the conference is for the moment transcending all others

Suit For $40,000 Is Outgrowth of Husband's Death

Mrs. Ethel Rakestraw, widow of the late Niel T. Rakestraw, who was killed at Polk, Neb., April 1, 1924, filed a suit in District court Wednesday afternoon asking a judgment of $40,000 against the Nebraska Gas and Electric company, the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company and the city of Polk for the death of her husband.

It is set out in the petition that Rakestraw was employed by the Telephone company at the time of his death and while repairing wires on the top of the Polk city hall came in contact with one of the Gas and Electric company's wires carrying 3,000 volts of electricity and was instantly killed.

DAVIS SPEECH SENT TO BRYAN

J. A. Edgerton of Washington, D. C., Arrives in Lincoln As Messenger From Democratic Presidential Nominee.

BRINGS ADVANCE DRAFT OF ACCEPTANCE ADDRESS

Former Nebraskan, Friend of Both Candidates on National Ticket, May Take Back Copy of Governor's Notification Talk.

Bringing an advance copy of the acceptance speech prepared by John W. Davis, presidential candidate of the democratic party, for delivery to Governor Bryan, the nominee for vice president, J. A. Edgerton of Washington, D. C., reached Lincoln Tuesday night. He called at the executive mansion at 9 a. m., Wednesday and performed the specific mission for which he was sent.

Being a former Nebraskan and a personal friend of Governor Bryan, and possessing at the same time a close acquaintance with Mr. Davis, the Washington man was sent as a messenger bearing the latter's initial campaign pronouncement, which is not to be released until the speech is made at Clarksburg, W. Va., on August 11.

It is surmised, also, that Mr. Edgerton may have been entrusted by the candidate for president with confidential matters to be communicated verbally to Governor Bryan, and that when he returns east he will take back to Mr. Davis a copy of the vice presidential nominee's address to be given in Lincoln upon the occasion of his notification here, August 18.

Edgerton told Governor Bryan, during their interview at the executive mansion Wednesday, that he would be in Nebraska for several days. He has relatives at Kearney whom he may visit while in the state.

Twenty-five years ago, Edgerton was making his home in Lincoln. He was affiliated with the old populist party and supported W. J. Bryan for the presidency in the latter's three campaigns. He was a newspaper writer and the author of a number of poems. He pursued his literary career after leaving Lincoln. During the Wilson administration, he was an assistant to Postmaster General Burleson. For several years past, he has been engaged in lecturing and writing.

Governor Bryan said that he met Mr. Edgerton during the recent democratic national convention in New York, and that the latter was in his rooms at the hotel a good deal of the time. It is probable that Edgerton will be connected with the management of the national campaign. He is a nephew of the late J. E Edgerton, who at one time was a member of the old state board of transportation in Nebraska.

Light Rains In Parts Of State

Light rains fell over some parts of the Lincoln division Tuesday night, according to the Burlington's report. The rain was generally heavy over the eastern part of the Wymore division and the western part of the McCook division. Some light showers were reported on the eastern half of the McCook division.

The official report of the weather bureau for the twenty-four hours ending at 8a. m., Wednesday is:

CITY VALUATION SHOWS INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Court Decisions Make It Smaller Than Had Been Anticipated.

Dayton Says If Levy Is Reduced Some Improvements Must Wait.

City Treasurer George Dayton announced Wednesday morning that the valuation upon which the city levy for 1924-25 will be based had been certified to him by Tax Commissioner Mathews as being $99,233,215, or approximately $3,000,000 more than last year. Of the total $73,561,130 is represented in real estate and the balance personal property. The real estate assessment is $4,777,040 larger than a year ago.

The assessed valuation is not as large as he expected, Mr. Dayton said, due to the fact that the city is compelled by court decisions to assess banks at their intangible value, orf 25 per cent of the actual value, while a rcent decision of the Lancaster county district court has compelled him to base his assessment of the rolling stock of the railroads at 60 per cent of the actual value. Heretofore the assessment has been made on the actual value.

Mr. Dayton said that on the basis of the figures submitted to him by the tax commissioner he expects to be able to lower the levy but would not hazard an opinion on how much. Last year it was 6.75 mills.

The figures submitted by the tax commissioner show that the personal

SIX TRUSTIES ESCAPE FROM GENEVA HOME

Girls Take State-owned Truck and Disappear From Institution Tuesday Night — No Trace of Missing Ones.

Six inmates of the girls industrial school at Geneva, Neb., stole a Ford truck belonging to the state and made their escape sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, according to information received at the state law enforcement office today.

It was not discovered that the girls were missing until roll call Wednesday morning. The authorities immediately notified all the officers in the surrounding towns and counties and sent out a description of the girls.

They were: Elizabeth Mondon, 18, Omaha, black hair and weighing about 130 pounds; Fay Leigh, wavy dark hair, weight, about 105 pounds; Anna Krause, 18, Falls City, tall, 145 pounds; Margaret Duffield, 18, Lincoln, weighing about 160 pounds, thought to be wearing plaid dress; Alice Cummings, 17, Omaha, weighing about 140 pounds, wearing plaid dress; Dorothy Brown, Omaha, bobbed hair, weighs about 130 pounds wearing tan silk dress.

The girls were all trusties and were sleeping in a room outside of the regular dormitory quarters. They are supposed to have left some time after midnight and to have pushed the truck in which they took their departure for some distance from the home so that the noise of starting it would not be heard at the institution.

No trace of the refugees had been found Wednesday afternoon.

Governor Gets Squirrel Skin Skull Cap Which May Be Used For Campaigning In Missouri

Members of the Tecumseh squirrel club, a nonpartisan organization of Lincoln and Tecumseh citizens, are presenting to Governor Bryan, one of their number, a skull cap made of the skins of three bunnies which he shot and killed last fall during the club's annual hunt in Johnson and Nemaha counties. Announcement to this effect is made by C. A. Lord, chairman of he local committee on arrangements for the Bryan notification on August 18.

A letter received by Mr. Lord from J. B. Douglas of Tecumseh, who is president, secretary and treasurer of the club, says the cap has been made and is being sent by parcel post to Lincoln. It bears a tag on the inside showing the date of the squirrel hunt and also the date of manufacture.

"Governor Bryan is vice president of the club," said Mr. Lord, "and the members thought that a trophy of this kind might be sort of lucky in his campaign for vice presiden of he Unied Sates. If he doesn't care to use it regularly, he can do so at least when touring the timber country down in Missouri, the home of Jim Reed. The folks down there will sure vote for Bryan when they find out that he's a squirrel hunter."

Mr. Lord guarantees that the cap will be a good fit and look fine on the dome of the Nebraska executive.

It is convertible and can be worn with either side out. The effect will be as striking one way as the other, if not more so, declares Mr. Lord. For hot weather, he suggests that the smooth side be worn next to the skin, while for cool autumn evenings when the nominee for vice president speaks in the open air he can turn the hairy surface in and avoid taking cold.

The cap is made from the skins of red squirrels and is finished in the natural color. This may give the impression that the governor is red-headed, and thus win some additional votes, Lord thinks.

It will not be worn at the vice presidential notification, which requires something more formal. Mr. Bryan will stick to the conventional black skull cap for that occasion.

Won't Desert Club.

Governor Bryan is a charter member of the squirrel club and has taken part in its annual hunts ever since it was organized ten years ago. He has promised to do so again this year, no matter whether he is successful at the election or not. The hunts are held during the month of November.

Acording to his fellow members, the governor is a crack shot and squirrels seldom get away when he draws a bead on them. He uses an automatic revolver for ordinary shooting. The rest of the hunters use rifles. Shotguns are barred as not furnishing an opportunity for the best marksmanship.

Las year 92 squirrels were killed. The highest record was 135.

The club is divided about evenly as to republican and democratic political affiliations.

The governor, Mr. Lord, Fred E. Bodie, and R. F. Reynolds are he Lincoln members. Those at a Tecumseh are President J. B. Douglas, Lee Heskett, S. D. Parker, Joe V. Johnson, Harold F. Sullivan and Warren Ingersoll.

NEW PLANE TO AWAIT WADE IN NOVA SCOTIA

Arrange To Send Aircraft To Pictou Harbor To Permit Flier To Continue Trip With Other Airmen.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Arrangements were completed today by the army air service to send an airplane from Langley Field, Virginia, to Pictou Harbor, Nova Scotia, to be used by Lieutenant Wade from that place over the remaining route of the world flight in company with the two other fliers.

Lieutenant Wade's original craft, the Boston, was wrecked near the Faroe islands. The substitute will be christened the "Boston II." It is the extra Douglas machine used by the pilots during their training for the flight and will be flown from Langley Field by Lieut. George C. McDonald.

Decision to send the new plane to Lieutenant Wade, indicated that small hope was held in air service circles that the wrecked machine could be salvaged.

Both the white house and war department have been besieged since the mishap to Lieutenant Wade to make some arrangement to permit him to finish the flight.

Lieutenant Wade and his mechician, Sergeant Ogden, were picked up by the cruiser Richmond and are expected to proceed to the mainland aboard her.

Hop-Off To Be Delayed.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 6.—Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Erik Nelson, the United States army world aviators, expect to remain here several days following their storm trip from Hoefn Hornafjord, on the eastern Iceland coast yesterday.

The fliers said they could start today on their Greenland flight except for the uncertainty of the situation at Angmagsalik, where the worst ice conditions in years are reported.

Dangerous Lap Ahead.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Safely at Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland, after a strenuous battle against a gale during their five hour trip, from the east coast yesterday, the American army aviators are turning their eyes to far-off Greenland.

Between them and their next goal and along a route which parallels the Arctic circle, stretch 500 miles of bleak water, part of which is blocked by ice fields, conditions being the worst in years for this season.

The Spanish government steamer Gertrude Rask, entrusted with the task of delivering supplies for the airmen at Angamgsalik, their next scheduled stop, reported yesterday by wireless that she was frozen in and drifting with the ice, being unable to fulfill her mission.

The fliers may be faced with the alternative of re-fuelling near the edge of the ice field, landing in the open water near the Gertrude Rask, or flying directly to Ivgitut, on the southwest coast of Greenland, instead of attempting to stop at Angmagsalik.

The airmen do not like the prospect of a 480 mile flight over open water with no certainty of a proper landing place. The reports from Angmagsalik was conflicting, there being no assurance as yet the supply steamer Gertrude Rask, reported caught in the ice, fifteen miles off shore, has been able to deliver her supplies for the airmen's next stop.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF PETIT LARCENY

Denies Taking Goods From Grocery Store and May Appeal Case.

Mrs. J. Carlin, 1735 R street, was tried in Justice Stevens' court Wednesday morning and found guilty of petit larceny. She was fined $10 and costs.

It was charged that Mrs. Carlin, on July 14, stole two pounds of butter, one pound of bacon, five pounds of sugar and a dozen eggs from the Piggly Wiggly store on South Thirteenth street.

Mrs. Carlin denied the charge when on the witness stand saying that she filled her basket with the goods and paid for them as she went out. Then, she discovered that she had forgotten to get a loaf of bread and returned for it. On the way out the second time she was paying for the bread when Roy Curtis, store manager, accused her of not having paid for the other articles, she said.

Curtis testified that he had watched Mrs. Carlin while she was in the store.

Jesse McKee, cashier for the store testified that Mrs. Carlin had not paid for the other articles. Albert Hahn, a customer who was in the store at the time said he saw Mrs. Carlin take the goods.

Mrs. Carlin said she intended to appeal the decision.

Make Analysis To Determine Cause Of Woman's Death

The stomach of Mrs. Anton Soukoup of Page, Neb., is being examined by University of Nebraska chemists for traces of poisoning or some reason for death from other than natural causes. No report will be given out in Lincoln, Prof. C. J. Frankforter said, but the analysis will be sent directly to County Attorney Cronin of Holt county. Mrs. Soukoup died several days ago under circumstances that aroused the suspicion of Holt county officials.

HEAT CAUSES ONE NEBRASKA DEATH

Richardson County Farmer First To Fall Victim This Season.

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., August 6—The heat wave took toll of the first victim of the season in Richardson county Tuesday, when the mercury climbed to 98 degrees.

Elmer W. Linderman, 54, farmer who lived four miles south of Salem, was overcome by the heat while aiding a neighbor in threshing. He was carried to his home where he died two hours later.

His funeral will be held Sunday.

A timely rain that proved of great benefit to the corn crop halted the climb of the temperature. A total rainfall of .91 of an inch was recorded yesterday afternoon and this morning.

Woman Seeks to Collect For Eight Years' Toil On Brother's Farm.

(Special to The Star)

COLUMBUS Neb Aug 6—Clara Kiuntke worked for twelve years on her brother's farm keeping house helping in the field and feeding hogs and cattle. The only remuneration she received during that time consisted of clothes board and room.

A short time ago her brother was accidentally killed and left an estate valued at $33000. But Adolph Kiuntke left no will. Under the law the mother Mrs Caroline Kiuntke 58 Belgrade Neb is entitled to the entire estate.

Tuesday Clara Kiuntke appeared in probate court before county Judge John Gibbon and asked that she be given pay of $1 a week for the last eight years she worked on her brother's farm. She says the first four years don't count because she was a minor. ... titled to her wages. ... her objects. She says a total of $4160 is too much pay for eight years work. She claims she can hire a woman to do the same work for from $5 to $7 a week.

County Judge Gibbon has taken the case under advisement.

A statement given out by E. F. Rosenbaum, one of the managing directors, said the company has started functioning, handling and selling all small grains.

Briefly Told News From the Wires

CLEVELAND, O.—Two men were killed last night when they were pinned beneath an airplane which crashed a short distance east of Hudson, O. One of the men was the owner and pilot of the machine, which was used for commercial flying and aviation lessons, and the other a youth, who was learning to fly.

CHICAGO — Crops worth several million dollars were destroyed by a hail storm and series of storms which Monday night swept from northern Stutsman county east into Minnesota, striking portions of seven North Dakota counties, reports received here said.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Frank S. Land, grand scribe and founder of the Order of De Molay, yesterday telegraphed President Coolidge that he had requested that 130,000 members of the order to co-operate with officers of the reserve corps and national guard in the observance of National Defense day.

WASHINGTON—Senator La Follette's name will be presented to the voters of Wisconsin as an independent progressive, on the same basis that has been adopted for other states, Robert M. La Follette, jr., Tuesday advised Chairman Butler of the republican natinoal committee.

NEW YORK—Thomas J. Spellacy, eastern democratic manager, had a long conference yesterday with George W. Olvany, new leader of Tammany hall. Mr. Spellacy said the subject of discussion was the organization of the national committee's activities in this section and that he had asked Mr. Olvany to suggest two or three persons to assist him in the work.

MUSCATINE, Ia.—Steps toward the early arraignment of Harlan (Gabe) Simmons, confessed slayer of Orton Ferguson were held in abeyance today pending the arrival of Simmons' family and negotiations for attorneys to handle his case. Although the prisoner has indicated his willingness to plead guilty, he may change his mind and decide to stand trial.

THE FINAL STEPS.

Only unwarranted suspicion and distrust can prevent the Dawes program for the settlement of the reparations mess from becoming effective

Once the reparations question is out of the way the final obstacle to a greater stabilization of conditions in Europe has been removed With it will come an opportunity for recovery from the wounds suffered in the world war—a step so long delayed that all of the world has suffered acutely as a result That is why the conferences which have been opened in London at which the program for putting the Dawes plan into effect are of such great importance

There is every reason for optimism in the preliminary reports coming from London where the arrival of the German delegation completed all of the arrangements for the final conference Apparently the silly fears and suspicions that have so long blocked any settlement have been effectively allayed The German delegation under the leadership of Chancellor Marx Foreign Minister Stresemann and Finance Minister Luther must be given a large share of the credit for this situation Their utterances have measured up to the expectations of the inter allied conference And not only by their utterances but by their actions they have given every indication of fulfilling the provisions of the Dawes plan

If the reports that have been coming out of Germany in recent months are true and they have been provided by American journalists of recognized standing a regenerated and chastened nation is now making a serious effort to regain the respect and friendship of the world Germany has awakened finally to the full folly of its course of deceit and treachery That which is best in the German and in German life has reasserted itself What a comfort and a cause for rejoicing

Those conditions which sent French troops into the Ruhr in an unlawful occupation of the district which forced France to maintain such a military establishment that on top of her staggering expenditures during the war practically ruined the finances of the country and which again invoked a new race for armaments will disappear Great Britain and France and Italy and Belgium and the other nations of Europe who even since the war have been paying more attention to military preparation than to the problems of peace will now be free to complete the processes of rehabilitation The world needs Germany It needs German thrift and enterprise and the unsurpassed capacity of the Teuton for productive labor

Germany has given her pledge that she stands ready to put the Dawes plan into effect in its entirety The spokesman for the German delegation has said that his country will do its part to a loyal fulfillment of all the conditions laid down The Allies could not ask for anything more A failure to arrive at a settlement upon this basis will lead to a catastrophe far more serious than any which has been visited upon the world It is to be ardently hoped that these are the final steps in the negotiations

A COMMENDABLE CAMPAIGN

The Kiwanis clubs of the country have inaugurated a very laudable movement in getting out the vote At a recent meeting of the International organization figures were presented showing how urgent such an effort is

In 1896 80 per cent of all of those eligible voted in the presidential elections in 1900 73 percent voted in 1908 the percentage decreased to 66 percent In 1912 there was a further decrease to 62 percent and in 1920 less than 50 percent of the voters exercised their franchise rights

Bad government is the penalty of indifference It enables the small interested groups and blocs to make their selfish influence felt in the general results Precisely that situation has prevailed to an increasing extent in this country Due to the failure of a large percentage of the voters to go to the polls dangerous policies of far reaching importance have seemingly received the support of the people of his country when they merely represented the views of a small minority and equally menacing demagogues have been enabled to remain in office by directing their efforts to a small group

An examination of the record of congress in recent years will reveal the full extent of the harm that has come as a result of the increasing tendency of the average voter to shirk the responsibilities of government In congress the fruits of self interest and bloc influences are reflected in the largest measure Congress has been divided into groups with each bloc endeavoring to promote its own particular program That situation is not conducive to good statesmanship Where can be found a member of the congress of today who measures up to the leaders of the civil war period or the years immediately following—men who were deeply conscious of the national existence and whose course of action was molded by that which they conceived to be for the good of all of the people of the country?

The Kiwanis clubs of America will perform a splendid task if they succeed in getting all of their members to exercise the franchise right They should not stop with their own membership They should enlarge the campaign to include their friends They should invite other civic organizations in their communities to join in the effort to bring a larger number of the voters of this country to the polls

America's salvation rests in a full and complete expression by the citizenship of this country

STILL FLYING THE BLACK FLAG

If any further justification were needed for the attitude of the United States government in refusing to recognize or deal with the Russian bolsheviki it is furnished by the breakdown of negotiations between Ramsay Macdonald's government and the soviet representatives after spending nearly four months in a vain attempt to arrive at some basis of understanding which would guarantee the future peaceful relations of the two countries

It was in the most friendly spirit that Macdonald and his labor party colleagues invited the Russian delegation into conference The party was pledged ... efforts toward re establishing diplomatic ... with Moscow and entering into an agreement which would reopen the channels of trade between Russia and ... The ... Ramsay Macdonald government had stood aloof as the United States did because ... communistic plots hatched by the third internationale" to overthrow organized society as it now exists through out the world and the sending of agents and money into other countries to accomplish that purpose But the Macdonald regime gave the Russians credit for sincerity and entered into negotiations with them on that basis

In such a cordial atmosphere there was every chance for an amicable adjustment of the situation had the bolshevik delegation shown any disposition whatever to acknowledge Russia's obligations to cease plotting against the security of other nations pay the debts justly owing to their people and restore private property confiscated by the soviet regime or make restitution therefor in cash

These moderate demands which called for nothing more than a decent recognition of Russia's obligations to the rest of the world were all rejected by the spokesmen of communism They stood upon the right of the Moscow government to dispossess foreigners of their property without rendering any compensation for it They flatly declined to admit any stipulation whereby Russia might be called upon to repay any money loaned to it before or during the world war although they were insistent on getting a new loan of fifty million pounds —about $220 000 000—as the price of their subscribing to any kind of agreement whatever

The British representatives offered to extend Moscow a loan of ten million pounds that amount being now to the credit of the old Romanoff government in the bank of England in connection with a proposed trade agreement But the obdurate attitude of the bolsheviki in regard to making reparation for seizures of property repaying loans and calling off their communistic agitators blocked the way to such a compact

No surprise is expressed here over the result says a cablegram from London telling about the collapse of the negotiations The British people and their government it appears have learned a great deal about the soviet system from close contact with its delegated spokesmen which they did not know before

The London fiasco proves that there is no use in trying to make treaties with international outlaws It would be just as sensible to try to reach an understanding with Chinese brigands and kipnappers The soviet government is founded upon the doctrine that no member of human society has any rights except a small minority that has seized power by force and maintained itself by means of assassination repression and robbery

In consistently refusing to waste any time dickering with the bloody rulers of Russia the American government occupies solid ground Great Britain's experience shows that Secretary of State Hughes has been right along in his rejection of soviet overtures Until the people of Russia take control of their own government and show an honest desire to re enter the family of nations that country cannot hope to win back the confidence of the rest of the world or expect to be regarded with anything but suspicion and distrust

DR SCHWARZ'S RETIREMENT

Dr Julius F Schwarz pastor of the Presbyterian church of Hickman has resigned and will become executive secretary of the University of Omaha

In his retirement from the Hickman charge the Presbyterian church loses one of its most zealous and enthusiastic workers During the seven years he has labored at Hickman Dr Schwarz has more than doubled the membership of the church and has succeeded in making numerous improvements to the church property Dr Schwarz served as district superintendent of the Presbyterian synod of Nebraska and was state clerk for fourteen years A few months ago he started the preparation of a historical account of the progress of the church in Nebraska and it will shortly come from the press

But it is not alone in the church circles that Dr Schwarz has made his influence felt in the Hickman community He is a many sided man a most engaging personality with great capacity for community building Every worth while movement enlisted his hearty support Many families who belonged to his congregation and many others who were not members of his church came to rely upon him for advice and counsel That is why it will be so exceedingly difficult to fill his place in the community

In his new field of work Dr Schwarz will have an exceptional opportunity The University of Omaha is advancing rapidly and in twelve years has grown to a school of 1 000 students An extensive building program is being put through where Dr Schwarz's capacity for organization and finance will prove very useful

Golf we are told is in its infancy in this country When it is full grown it will doubtless be necessary to knock off from golf one or two afternoons a week to look after business

More Truth Than Poetry

JOHN

If you were gentle Juliet.
And I were Romeo
I wouldn't fool around and let
Them spoil our loving—no
Your father might get out his gun
And threaten to be rough
But I'd not get my hat and run
I'd stay and call his bluff

JANE

If you were Romeo and I
Were Juliet I fear
You'd find my balcony so high
You couldn't reach it dear
So please don't get to dreaming dreams
That I am Juliet
You haven't shown much class it seems
At climbing ladders yet

JOHN

I often half believe that you
Make light of what I say
My gifts are neither small nor few
As I shall prove some day
Please try to let yourself forget
My meagre salary
For I will climb the ladder yet
Be patient and you'll see

JANE

Oh I am thrilled to hear you speak
Of being Romeo
And when you say you'll reach the peak
I know it will be so
The climbing's good for people who
Make up their minds to win
But when ... I may ask are you
Expecting to begin?

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

NOTHING SHOULD BE SAID TO BELITTLE SPOUSE BEFORE CHILDREN

Don't quarrel before your children fathers and mothers

You are bound to make harsh statements one to the other under such circumstances that you would not have your children hear if you stopped to think

As a husband or a wife do you say things to your life partner not infrequently which belittle that one in the estimation of your children?

Do you realize what sort of effect this is bound to produce on children who are otherwise thinking that father or mother are little short of perfect

It is natural for children to think their own parents are the best persons in the world

When this opinion is shattered there comes a change in the child

There is a different opinion feeling and attitude toward the parent

Usually a child leans more toward one parent or the other and after parents quarrel in the presence of their children there comes a feeling stronger for the one ... and a decrease in love for the other

... that mutual respect

Causes of Crime

Less than a hundred years ago people suffering from mental disorders were locked up in dungeons We're still doing that with criminals Meanwhile criminals and crime is on the increase rather than the decrease

Everything from prohibition to inefficient policing from the movies to the growing freedom of youth is blamed

Evidence grows however that there is a close association between crime and mental disorders Experts in the study of the mind have advanced the theory that the science of medicine could accomplish results far beyond those attained solely by police judge juries and jails A recent survey made by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene seems to bear out to some extent this theory

Altogether 1 ... prisoners were studied in thirty four jails and penitentiaries It was found that no less than 71 per cent of them had some form of mental trouble such as feeble mindedness insanity epilepsy or psychopathic disorders of various kinds About six out of every ten ... needed treatment for physical ills

Repeaters were common ... per cent having been arrested twice 16 per cent three times and 30 per cent four or more times It is plain that a single criminal between his intermittent periods of confinement is accountable for many many offenses

It is interesting to wonder what would happen if competent specialists in mental disorders provided with suitable hospitals laboratories and operating rooms were formally attached to police departments and courts

Science is almost adding to its knowledge of the causes the cures the preventive measures and the effects of mental diseases It isn't hard to visualize that the time will come when this knowledge will be employed to reduce the growing depredations of mentally unbalanced criminals against the life and property of society

If Mars Were Lassoed

Famous Astronomer and Writer On Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

One of my ingenious Chicago correspondents has bethought him of a novel aspect of the Mars question Since the famous red planet adorned with its snowy poles elusive canals and other mysterious markings is to come so close to the earth in the latter part of August he wonders whether it might not be possible for us to lasso it and thus turn it into a big satellite of the earth

There is a western breadth and daring about this suggestion that make a strong appeal to the imagination If we are going to try to talk with the wonderful Martians by radio to be sure why should we not lock arms with them gravitationally and so get time to pump them thoroughly on the subject of their superior civilization while the two planets stroll side by side on their way around the sun?

Gravitation as it acts between the celestial bodies certainly behaves sufficiently like a lasso to strike a lively fancy with the resemblance

The earth holds the moon with an invisible rope of attractive force and makes its travel in a wavering course now careering on this side and now on that while the much stronger and longer lasso of the sun keeps them both in leash If we had any means of multiplying the gravitational force of our planets (as for instance by suddenly increasing its density and so its aggressive mass) we could unquestionably bring about some startling results in planetary space If for example the earth's mass were quadrupled the moon's velocity would be doubled and that would suffice to change the size of its orbit and its form with respect to the sun

When Mars comes nearest—about 35 000 000 miles—the 22d of August the earth's pull upon it will be about one 20 000th of the sun's while at the same time its pull upon the moon is about one half of the sun's In order to make the earth's pull upon Mars relatively as great as its pull upon the moon the distance between them would be reduced more than 141 times Even if Mars were at double the moon's distance from the earth it would fall into a waving path resembling the lunar orbit and would become a constant companion of the earth but it would hardly be suitable to speak of it as a satellite on account of its size—eight times that of the moon in volume

At twice the distance of the moon however it would appear no larger than the latter—but how different in its looks Most of its mysteries would be solved almost at once by our powerful telescopes for the decrease of distance would be equivalent to an increase of more than 140 times in magnifying power

We may be sure that if Mars really is inhabited we should be left in no doubt about the fact if a distance of less than half a million miles separated it from us The famous canals now only to be glimpsed by a few of the greatest telescopes would be conspicuous and their character would quickly be revealed

My Chicago correspondent is in error in supposing that an increase in the earth's pull upon Mars could draw the latter directly toward us It would change the path and position of Mars to an extent depending upon the amount of the force and other circumstances but it would be incapable of causing Mars to fall directly toward the earth

That could only happen if Mars was motionless when the earth began to draw it and if the earth was the only attracting body in the solar system The amount of the force exerted by the attraction of gravitation acting between the members of the solar system appears tremendous when stated in terms of tons Thus the attraction of the earth upon Mars is about 110 quadrillions of tons

THE FINAL STEPS.

Only unwarranted suspicion and distrust can prevent the Dawes program for the settlement of the reparations mess from becoming effective.

Once the reparations question is out of the way, the final obstacle to a greater stabilization of conditions in Europe has been removed. With it will come an opportunity for recovery from the wounds suffered in the world war—a step so long delayed that all of the world has suffered acutely as a result. That is why the conferences which have been opened in London, at which the program for putting the Dawes plan into effect, are of such great importance.

There is every reason for optimism in the preliminary reports coming from London, where the arrival of the German delegation completed all of the arrangements for the final conference. Apparently the silly fears and suspicions, that have so long blocked any settlement, have been effectively allayed. The German delegation, under the leadership of Chancellor Marx, Foreign Minister Stresemann and Finance Minister Luther must be given a large share of the credit for this situation. Their utterances have measured up to the expectations of the inter-allied conference. And, not only by their utterances, but by their actions, they have given every indication of fulfilling the provisions of the Dawes plan.

If the reports that have been coming out of Germany in recent months are true, and they have been provided by American journalists of recognized standing, a regenerated and chastened nation is now making a serious effort to regain the respect and friendship of the world. Germany has awakened finally to the full folly of its course of deceit and treachery. That which is best in the German and in German life has reasserted itself. What a comfort and a cause for rejoicing!

Those conditions which sent French troops into the Ruhr in an unlawful occupation of the district, which forced France to maintain such a military establishment that on top of her staggerng expenditures during the war practically ruined the finances of the country, and which again invoked a new race for armaments, will disappear. Great Britain and France and Italy and Belgium, and the other nations of Europe, who even since the war have been paying more attention to military preparation than to the problems of peace, will now be free to complete the processes of rehabilitation. The world needs Germany. It needs German thrift and enterprise and the unsurpassed capacity of the Teuton for productive labor.

Germany has given her pledge that she stands ready to put the Dawes plan into effect in its entirety. The spokesman for the German delegation has said that his country will do its part to a loyal fulfillment of all the conditions laid down. The Allies could not ask for anything more. A failure to arrive at a settlement upon this basis will lead to a catastrophe far more serious than any which has been visited upon the world. It is to be ardently hoped that these are the final steps in the negotiations.

A COMMENDABLE CAMPAIGN.

The Kiwanis clubs of the country have inaugurated a very laudable movement in getting out the vote. At a recent meeting of the International organization figures were presented, showing how urgent such an effort is.

"In 1896, 80 per cent of all of those eligible voted in the presidential elections; in 1900, 73 percent voted; in 1908 the percentage decreased to 66 percent; in 1912 there was a further decrease to 62 percent; and in 1920 less than 50 percent of the voters exercised their franchise rights."

Bad government is the penalty of indifference. It enables the small interested groups and blocs to make their selfish influence felt in the general results. Precisely that situation has prevailed to an increasing extent in this country. Due to the failure of a large percentage of the voters to go to the polls, dangerous policies of far-reaching importance have seemingly received the support of the people of this country when they merely represented the views of a small minority and equally menacing demagogues have been enabled to remain in office by directing their efforts to a small group.

An examination of the record of congress in recent years will reveal the full extent of the harm that has come as a result of the increasing tendency of the average voter to shirk the responsibilities of government. In congress, the fruits of self-interest and bloc influences are reflected in the largest measure. Congress has been divided into groups, with each bloc endeavoring to promote its own particular program. That situation is not conducive to good statesmanship. Where can be found a member of the congress of today who measures up to the leaders of the Civil war period, or the years immediately following—men who were deeply conscious of the national existence and whose course of action was molded by that which they conceived to be for the good of all of the people of the country?

The Kiwanis clubs of America will perform a splendid task if they succeed in getting all of their members to exercise the franchise rights. They should not stop with their own membership. They should enlarge the campaign to include their friends. They should invite other civic organizations in their communities to join in the effort to bring a larger number of the voters of this country to the polls.

America's salvation rests in a full and complete expression by the citizenship of this country.

STILL FLYING THE BLACK FLAG.

If any further justification were needed for the attitude of the United States government in refusing to recognize or deal with the Russian bolsheviki, it is furnished by the breakdown of negotiations between Ramsay Macdonald's government nd the soviet representatives, after spending nearly four months in a vain attempt to arrive at some basis of understanding which would guarantee the future peaceful relations of the two countries.

It was in the most friendly spirit that Macdonald and his labor party colleagues invited the Russian delegation into conference. The party was pledged to use its efforts toward re-establishing diplomatic comity with Moscow and entering into an agreement which would reopen the channels of trade between Russia and Great Britain. Previous British governments had stood aloof, as the United States did, because of the communistic plots hatched by the "third internationale" to overthrow organized society as it now exists throughout the world, and the sending of agents and money into other countries to accomplish that purpose. But the Macdonald regime gave the Russians credit for sincerity and entered into negotiations with them on that basis.

In such a cordial atmosphere, there was every chance for an amicable adjustment of the situation, had the bolshevik delegation shown any disposition whatever to acknowledge Russia's obligations to cease plotting against the security of other nations, pay the debts justly owing to their people, and restore private property confiscated by the soviet regime, or make restitution therefor in cash.

These moderate demands, which called for nothing more than a decent recognition of Russia's obligations to the rest of the world, were all rejected by the spokesmen of communism. They stood upon the right of the Moscow government to disposses foreigners of their property without rendering any compensation for it. They flatly declined to admit any stipulation whereby Russia might be called upon to repay any money loaned to it before or during the world war, although they were insistent on getting a new loan of fifty million pounds —about $220,000,000—as the price of their subscribing to any kind of agreement whatever.

The British representatives offered to extend Moscow a loan of ten million pounds, that amount being now to the credit of the old Romanoff government in the bank of England, in connection with a proposed trade agreement. But the obdurate attitude of the bolsheviki in regard to making reparation for seizures of property, repaying loans, and calling off their communistic agitators blocked the way to such a compact.

"No surprise is expressed here over the result," says a cablegram from London, telling about the collapse of the negotiations. The British people and their government, it appears, have learned a great deal about the soviet system, from close contact with its delegated spokesmen, which they did not know before.

The London fiasco proves that there is no use in trying to make treaties with international outlaws. It would be just as sensible to try to reach an understanding with Chinese brigands and kipnappers. The soviet government is founded upon the doctrine that no member of human society has any rights except a small minority that has seized power by force and maintained itself by means of assassination, repression and robbery.

In consistently refusing to waste any time dickering with the bloody rulers of Russia, the American government occupies solid ground. Great Britain's experience shows that Secretary of State Hughes has been right along in his rejection of soviet overtures. Until the people of Russia take control of their own government and show an honest desire to re-enter the family of nations, that country cannot hope to win back the confidence of the rest of the world or expect to be regarded with anything but suspicion and distrust.

DR. SCHWARZ'S RETIREMENT.

Dr. Julius F. Schwarz, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Hickman, has resigned and will become executive secretary of the University of Omaha.

In his retirement from the Hickman charge, the Presbyterian church loses one of its most zealous and enthusiastic workers. During the seven years he has labored at Hickman, Dr. Schwarz has more than doubled the membership of the church and has succeeded in making numerous improvements to the church property. Dr. Schwarz served as district superintendent of the Presbyterian synod of Nebraska and was state clerk for fourteen years. A few months ago he started the preparation of a historical account of the progress of the church in Nebraska, and it will shortly come from the press.

But it is not alone in the church circles that Dr. Schwarz has made his influence felt in the Hickman community. He is a many-sided man, a most engaging personality, with great capacity for community building. Every worth-while movement enlisted his hearty support. Many families who belonged to his congregation, and many others who were not members of his church, came to rely upon him for advice and counsel. That is why it will be so exceedingly difficult to fill his place in the community.

In his new field of work, Dr. Schwarz will have an exceptional opportunity. The University of Omaha is advancing rapidly and in twelve years has grown to a school of 1,000 students. An extensive building program is being put through where Dr. Schwarz's capacity for organization and finance will prove very useful.

Goldf, we are told, is in its infancy in this country. When it is full-grown, it will doubtless be necessary to knock off from golf one or two afternoons a week to look after business.

More Truth Than Poetry

JOHN

If you were gentle Juliet,
And I were Romeo,
I wouldn't fool around and let
Them spoil our loving—no!
Your father might get out his gun
And threaten to be rough,
But I'd not get my hat and run,
I'd stay and call his bluff.

JANE.

If you were Romeo, and I
Were Juliet, I fear
You'd find my balcony so high
You couldn't reach it, dear.
So please don't get to dreaming dreams
That I am Juliet;
You haven't shown much class, it seems,
At climbing ladders yet.

JOHN

I often half believe that you
Make light of what I say;
My gifts are neither small nor few,
As I shall prove some day;
Please try to let yourself forget
My meagre salary,
For I will climb the ladder yet;
Be patient, and you'll see.

JANE.

Oh, I am thrilled to hear you speak
Of being Romeo,
And when you say you'll reach the peak
I know it will be so;
The climbing's good for people who
Make up their minds to win,
But when, if I may ask, are you
Expecting to begin?

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

NOTHING SHOULD BE SAID TO BELITTLE SPOUSE BEFORE CHILDREN.

Don't quarrel before your children, fathers and mothers.

You are bound to make harsh statements, one to the other, under such circumstances, that you would not have your children hear if you stopped to think.

As a husband or a wife, do you say things to your life partner, not infrequently, which belittle that one in the estimation of your children?

Do you realize what sort of effect this is bound to produce on children who are otherwise thinking that father or mother are little short of perfect?

It is natural for children to think their own parents are the best persons in the world.

When this opinion is shattered there comes a change in the child.

There is a different opinion, feeling, and attitude toward the parent.

Usually a child leans more toward one parent or the other, and after parents quarrel in the presence of their children there comes a feeling stronger for the one favored and a decrease in love for the other.

For the sake of your children be as united as possible.

For your own sake, keep the regard of your children by showing respect each to the other, thus forming a stronger tie for good than could possibly exist without that mutual respect.

Causes of Crime.

Less than a hundred years ago, people suffering from mental disorders were locked up in dungeons. We're still doing that with criminals. Meanwhile criminals and crime is on the increase rather than the decrease.

Everything from prohibition to inefficient policing, from the movies to the growing freedom of youth, is blamed.

Evidence grows, however, that there is a close association between crime and mental disorders. Experts in the study of the mind have advanced the theory that the science of medicine could accomplish results far beyond those attained solely by police, judges, juries and jails. A recent survey made by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene seems to bear out, to some extent, this theory.

Altogether, 1288 prisoners were studied in thirty-four jails and penitentiaries. It was found that no less than 74 per cent of them had some form of mental trouble; such as feeble-mindedness, insanity, epilepsy, or psychopathic disorders of various kinds. About six out of every ten, too, needed treatment for physical ills.

"Repeaters" were common: 22 per cent having been arrested twice, 16 per cent three times, and 30 per cent four or more times. It is plain that a single criminal between his intermittent periods of confinement is accountable for many, many offenses.

It is interesting to wonder what would happen if competent specialists in mental disorders, provided with suitable hospitals, laboratories, and operating rooms, were formally attached to police departments and courts.

Science is almost adding to its knowledge of the causes, the cures, the preventive measures, and the effects of mental diseases. It isn't hard to visualize that the time will come when this knowledge will be employed to reduce the growing depredations of mentally unbalanced criminals against the life and property of society.

Questions And Answers.

Your questions on health topics will be answered by Dr. Dorothy Bocker, if you address her in care of this newspaper.

F. F. B.—I am under the doctor's care. I get up mornings feeling miserable and with a headache. What is wrong?

ANSWER—I cannot tell. The chances are that you deferred going to the doctor until you were in bad shape and that you now expect him to work miracles. The doctor is not responsible for your troubles but he is obliged to tell you enough about your ailment and his treatment to keep you from worrying and to give you patience. Suppose you tell him about the headache and ask his explanation and help.

If Mars Were Lassoed

Famous Astronomer and Writer On Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

One of my ingenious Chicago correspondents has bethought him of a noval aspect of the Mars question. Since the famous red planet, adorned with its snowy poles, elusive "canals" and other mysterious markings, is to come so close to the earth in the latter part of August, he wonders whether it might not be possible for us to "lasso" it, and thus turn it into a big satellite of the earth.

There is a western breadth and daring about this suggestion that make a strong appeal to the imagination. If we are going to try to talk with the wonderful Martians by radio, to be sure why should we not lock arms with them gravitationally and so get time to pump them thoroughly on the subject of their superior civilization, while the two planets stroll side by side on their way around the sun?

Grfavitation as it acts between the celestial bodies certainly behaves sufficiently like a lasso to strike a lively fancy with the resemblance.

The earth holds the moon with an invisible rope of "attractive force" and makes its travel in a wavering course, now careering on this side and now on that, while the much stronger and longer lasso of the sun keeps them both in leash. If w had any means of multiplying the gravitational force of our planets (as for instance, by suddenly increasing its density and so its aggressive mass), we could unquestionably bring about some startling results in planetary space. If, for example, the earth's mass were quadrupled the moon's velocity would be doubled and that would suffice to change the size of its orbit and its form with respect to the sun.

When Mars comes nearest—about 35,000,000 miles—the 22d of August the earth's pull upon it will be about one-20,000th of the sun's, while at the same time its pull upon the moon is about one-half of the sun's. In order to make the earth's pull upon Mars relatively as great as its pull upon the moon the distance between them would be reduced more than 141 times. Even if Mars were at double the moon's distance from the earth, it would fall into a waving path resembling the lunar orbit, and would become a constant companion of the earth; but it would hardly be suitable to speak of it as a satellite on account of its size—eight times that of the moon in volume.

At twice the distance of the moon, however, it would appear no larger than the latter—but how different in its looks! Most of its mysteries would be solved almost at once by our powerful telescopes, for the decrease of distance would be equivalent to an increase of more than 140 times in magnifying power.

We may be sure that if Mars really is inhabited we should be left in no doubt about the fact if a distance of less than half a million miles separated it from us. The famous "canals," now only to be glimpsed by a few of the greatest telescopes, would be conspicuous, and their character would quickly be revealed.

My Chicago correspondent is in error in supposing that an increase in the earth's pull upon Mars could draw the latter directly toward us. It would change the path and position of Mars to an extent depending upon the amount of the force and other circumstances, but it would be incapable of causing Mars to fall directly toward the earth.

That could only happen if Mars was motionless when the earth began to draw it, and if the earth was the only attracting body in the solar system. The amount of the force exerted by the attraction of gravitation, acting between the members, acting between the members of the solar system, appears tremendous when stated in terms of tons. Thus the attraction of the earth upon Mars is about 140 quadrillions of tons.

Recent statistics, carefully compiled, indicate that one of every twelve of the nations adult male workers is on the public pay roils. This means, it appears, that the money paid for a single year to the recipients of government compensation would meet the payrolls of the entire automobile industry of the country for a ten-year period. Or again, the Nation is paying from its treasury three times as many persons as are employed in all branches of the mining industry, five times as many as mine its coal, and six times the number engaged in the basic production of iron and steel and the maintenance of its foundry and machine shops.

Travel and Resorts

Vacations and Outing Pleasures Are Almost Over

How about that vacation you have been contemplating ever since the frist balmy days of spring? If you are you had better hurry because the summer is on the wane and before many days have passed it will be to late. Let the Lincoln Star help make you plans.

There should be no difficulty on the part of anyone in selecting the spot in which to take a vacation. America is full of places in which a few days or a week or even a month can be spent with pleasure and profit. And many of these spots are near enough home that the expense need be but little more than what it would cost to spend the vacation period in the home town. However, for those who want to take a more distant jaunt, either coast, the Pacific mountain regions or the eastern ranges offer ample opportunities.

Getting away from the ever reliable Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan, with their mountains, lakes, timber, and unexcelled fishing resorts, and at all of which ample accommodations for camping, or hotel are to be found, in many states there are rivers offering daily excursions lasting a week. Along the route stops are made at small out of the way places for a few hours and a game of golf or tennis; a lounge in a summer hotel, and lunch, and a stroll in cool shady lanes—and all expenses are provided for in the initial cost of the boat trip. No cares, no worries, nothing but rest, comfort and peace. Can you imagine anything more luring, more perfect?

Perhaps something of a historical nature would suit better. If such is the case what more desirable than a trip down the historical Potomac to Norfolk, Va., or a rail pourney to the same place through Richmond and over the battle grounds of the Civil war. Down the Potomac the traveler sees Mount Vernon, Old Point Comfort, Fort Sumpter and many other places prominent in war days. And the night trip is one of the best in America. At Norfolk sea bathing is easily accessible, either at Ocean View on the Chesapeake, or at Virginia Beach, the Atlantic City of the south.

But it makes lo difference where the tired business man or the worn society matron wishes to go, the Lincoln Star Travel and Resort bureau is ready to lend its assistance in making your plans. Here is to be found literature on almost any trip one can desire either in America or abroad. And this literature and the bureau's assistance is free for the asking. Out of town requests should be accompanied with 4 cents in stamps—merely the cost of the postage. Address all communications to the Travel and Resort bureau, Lincoln Star, Twelfth and M streets. Lincoln residents will find the bureau at the north side of the main floor.

WOMEN RESERVES AGAINST WARFARE

Mrs. Oleson Tells of High Objective For Which They Were Given Vote.

Assembly Speaker Urges "Back to Honesty in Government" Movement.

Women are God's last reserves against warfare. If they fail they fail of the high objective for which [illegible] said Anna Dickie Oleson at the Epworth Assembly this afternoon.

Mrs. Oleson, whose home is in Northfield, Minn., where her husband is registrar of Carleton college, was the democratic nominee for United States senator from Minnesota a few years ago, the only woman to be honored in this way by a major party. She was also the first woman to address a Jackson day banquet in Washington, D. D.

Speaking on Women and Politics, Mrs. Oleson emphasized that the highest civic honor that can come to any human being is to become a voting citizen. Suffrage for women was the gift of men she explained [illegible] voting for equal suffrage [illegible] they had faith that women would [illegible] a definite contribution to human welfare.

When Woodrow Wilson submitted the suffrage amendment for ratification he said "I want you to unleash the spiritual forces in the nation for the welfare of the government."

He thought that women could give a spiritual contribution to government the speaker said which in the end is a moral contribution.

Mrs. Oleson continued:

In my campaign I met men who said politics was rotten they would never vote for any man that the government was in a bad way but they all said I'll vote for every woman running this fall.

Wilson said that women were spiritual forces. The men in the street said they could clean up the government.

Honesty in Political Life

If I were writing the political platforms for 1924 I would make the first plank back to honesty in government. Public officials symbolize the government and when men lose faith in the officials they lose faith in the government. The big thing today is to strive for honesty in political life.

Women have super power in government. They bring a spirit of independence to it. Women have never been taught to vote when they are twenty one as the men have and because they haven't they vote according to their own convictions.

Women feel that political parties belong to the people not people to the political parties.

One of the most important things for women is municipal housekeeping, important next to their own. Every time a city board or council meets a woman should be acquainted with the proceedings. Women's organizations should study government finance taxation city budgeting to know whether or not the money is being spent wisely.

They say that woman's place is in the home but she is benefiting her home when she keeps house in municipalities.

Mrs. Oleson closed her talk by saying that in 1914 all nations were man governed and in the last ten years nearly all the democracies of the world have given women the vote.

God controls the destinies of men and of nations she said and H has a purpose in women voting.

Everywhere I go I find women vitally interested and I get a glimpse of the accomplishments they can achieve. I feel this great unorganized power—it is tremendous.

She leaves her husband Johann Klug and five children, Rosie Moser of Maxwell, Kas., Miada Gahle of Lincoln, Louise Kumies and of Pleasant Dale, Gernia Nissen of Malcolm, and [illegible] of Pleasant Dale. The body is being held at the home. Funeral will probably be Saturday afternoon.

DR. JONES SPEAKS AT THE ASSEMBLY

Dr. E. Stanley Jones of India, world evangelist, spoke Tuesday afternoon at the Epworth assembly on "The Challenge of the East." Dr. Jones told of the two conflicts in India, the racial revolt of the East and the nationalist movement in India, and their influence on the future of that continent. That the Christian idea of sacrifice and of the dignity of service have penetrated into the consciousness of Hindu and Mohammedan alike is he said evident but the task of Christianizing the land has only begun.

Battleships and huge armaments are not the sign of strength but are signs that we do not believe in the power of love and the power of self sacrifice. For the first time in the world a nation has substituted love for brute force an infinitely more Christian method than that we have been using in the west. That nation is India and its movement is supported by Ghandi, Dr. Jones said. The powerful characteristics of the man as Dr. Jones knows him are his asceticism, the fact that he has linked his asceticism with service and the fact that he is imbued with the spirit of Christianity.

Musical Program

Irene Stolofsky, Polish violinist, assisted by Magdalen Massman pianist and Clifford R. Bloom tenor appeared following Dr. Jones' address. Miss Stolofsky appeared to advantage in the simple old melodies she chose such as Forsaken and The Last Rose of Summer.

Mr. Bloom delighted the audience with his clear diction, his ease of tone and the sustained quality of his voice.

In Oh Little Mother of Mine he showed more depth of feeling than in his other numbers. The Lieurance By the Waters of Minnetonka given ensemble as a closing number brought out to advantage his musical quality.

Miss Stolofsky and her assisting artists appeared for the second time on the assembly program Tuesday evening.

Miss Stolofsky is a violinist of more than ordinary ability both in technique and interpretation. Her skillful bowing brings clean rich tones and her temperament shapes them into the beautiful things she gives her audience. Ave Maria by Schubert, the last solo number of the violinist was superb. The concert closed with Angel's Serenade played by Miss Stolofsky and sung by Mr. Bloom.

Miss Massman gave a group of piano numbers and Mr. Bloom was heard in two groups. The trio was received enthusiastically by the audience but gave no closing encores.

Tom Skeyhill of Australia gave the evening address on the subject The Trojan Way.

P. T. A. PLANNING ALL-CITY PICNIC

An all city picnic for every Lincoln boy and girl and fathers and mothers as well is to be held at Antelope park Friday, August 15, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 9 p.m. The picnic is sponsored by the Lincoln Parent Teacher association.

This is to be the closing event of the summer playground season which closes August 23 and it is the desire of the association to make August 15 a family day when all Lincoln children and their parents will spend the day together enjoying the pleasures and benefits of the city parks.

Playground directors from all playgrounds in the city will be in Antelope park that day and a program of games will be given on the ground north of the band stand during the afternoon and evening.

Each family is requested to bring its own lunch.

HARRISON COMES TO SURVEY FIELD

Regional Manager For La Follette Campaign Arrives In Lincoln.

Will Visit Surrounding States And Look Things Over Soon.

Frank A. Harrison who is to be regional manager for the La Follette campaign in Nebraska and four other states is in Lincoln [illegible] preliminary survey of local conditions. Having come from Chicago on a Tuesday night train. He expects to visit Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Wyoming, the other states under his jurisdiction in the near future.

Phil La Follette, a son of the presidential candidate, is due to reach Lincoln within twenty four hours after a scouting trip through several of the western states. He and Harrison will probably go together to Kansas City on Thursday night to get into touch with La Follette's friends there and start to develop an effective campaign organization. Headquarters for Missouri are already established at St. Louis.

Harrison's work will be to coordinate the campaign activities and efforts in the states which the national organization has assigned to him. He will report to Congressman Nelson as chairman of the national committee and to La Follette himself. The general headquarters and the presidential candidate reserve the right to veto anything done in any state which does not fit in with the national plans.

State Tickets Not Favored

Mr. Harrison confirms the report that La Follette's national committee does not approve the nomination of candidates for state offices to run on the ticket with him. The general policy is to keep the presidential ticket separate and distinct from everything else leaving voters of all parties free to support La Follette and Wheeler without deserting the candidates of the old parties for state and local offices.

If any departure from this rule is sanctioned in Nebraska said Harrison very substantial reasons for such action will have to be shown. He is ready to hear what anyone has to say on the question.

The name progressive may be used in some states to designate the La Follette ticket but elsewhere it may be called independent or some other name. In Missouri the organization is being developed under the title of liberal party. In Minnesota the old name of farmer labor will probably be used. The La Follette people control the republican party organization in Wisconsin and North Dakota and that ticket will doubtless carry the names of the Badger senator's presidential electors.

Doubtful About Hi Johnson

What Hiram Johnson is going to do in the campaign Mr. Harrison does not know. He [illegible] in California and managed Johnson's primary campaign in Nebraska last spring but has not seen the latter for some time. It would not surprise Harrison if Johnson should refrain from any declaration either way as between La Follette and Coolidge.

Mrs. Harrison is in Lincoln a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Salisbury while her husband is planning his political work in this territory.

REFUND ALL CASH PAID FOR STOCK

Nebraska Purchasers of Burgess—Nash Issue Get Money Back.

All Nebraska subscribers to the recent preferred stock issue of the Burgess Nash Co. Omaha have had the money returned to them according to announcement made Wednesday by Governor Bryan. About $30[illegible] has been refunded to those who had made partial payments on shares of this stock. The last $[illegible] was distributed in checks mailed out Tuesday under the direction of State Trade and Commerce Secretary Hudson.

Some months ago on Governor Bryan's suggestion the officers of Woods Bros. Co., Lincoln and of the Burgess Nash Co. who have been working together on a reorganization plan for the latter concern agreed to set aside the receipts from sales of preferred stock in Nebraska as a special trust fund to protect the purchasers from loss in any eventuality.

The state was interested in the matter because it had authorized the company in a conditional permit to contract for sale and delivery of the stock to the general public said Governor Bryan. Financial complications which arose in the company's affairs prevented carrying out the original plans. It therefore became incumbent on the state to see that subscribers who had made partial payments for stock were reimbursed. This has now been done in full. It is the first time in the history of Nebraska that purchasers of stock were safeguarded by the state in any such manner.

The governor highly commended the Woods Bros. Co. and officers of the Burgess Nash Co. for their cooperation and assistance in refunding the money which had been paid in for stock.

WOMEN RESERVES AGAINST WARFARE

Mrs. Oleson Tells of High Objective For Which They Were Given Vote.

Assembly Speaker Urges "Back to Honesty in Government" Movement.

"Women are God's last reserves against warfare. If they fail, they fail of the high objective for which they were given the vote," said Anna Dickie Oleson at the Epworth Assembly this afternoon.

Mrs. Oleson, whose home is in Northfield, Minn., where her husband is registrar of Carleton college, was the democratic nominee for United States senator from Minnesota a few years ago, the only woman to be honored in this way by a major party. She was also the first woman to address a Jackson day banquet in Washington, D. D.

Speaking on "Women and Politics" Mrs. Oleson emphasized that the highest civic honor that can come to any human being is to become a voting citizen. Suffrage for women was the gift of men, she explained, men voting for equal suffrage because they had faith that women could give a definite contribution to human welfare.

When Woodrow Wilson submitted the suffrage amendment for ratification, he said, "I want you to unleash the spiritual forces in the nation for the welfare of the government."

"He thought that women could give a spiritual contribution to government," the speaker said, "which in the end is a moral contribution."

Mrs. Oleson continued:

You Save the Heat With This Six Speed Motor

The electric motor installed with the TRU-FLAME POWER OIL BURNER is equipped with a six speed switch. This is a very important feature as it allows a proportionate amount of air per gallon of oil burned, whether the burner is turned HIGH or LOW. THIS MEANS a great SAVING of HEAT. Let us demonstrate this to you. 12th Street Entrance.

BY "CY" SHERMAN

Links and Oilers struggled for mastery during fourteen frenzied innings yesterday the home athletes grabbing the verdict 4 to 3 in the most spectacular combat of the Lincoln season

Southpaw Karl Black served his forkside slants for the Lubricators and Guy Cooper right hand ace of the Lincoln staff toiled on the slab for the Josh Clarke clan Both were in superb fettle and traveled the full route

The Tulsa twirler after hurling his way out of the numerous crises of the contest weakened in the fourteenth frame and three Lincoln hits abetted by a sacrifice put the two deciding markers across the plate

Snyder Socks Two Homers

Catcher Bob Snyder subbing at the first sack since the recall of Chill McDaniel by Oklahoma City was Black's nemesis Snyder's [illegible] sock over the center field fence accounted for the Links first marker in the seventh and then in the fourteenth when Black falter I Snyder poled another homer which knotted the score and set up the pins for the home gang's winning spurt

Chavvy Chavez likewise was a potent factor in the Clarke gang's triumph The pepper Portuguese whammed two timely singles driving in Tony Lazzeri who had singled his way on for the tieing run in the ninth and crossing the home dish in the fourteenth following his single when Eddie Moore slashed a safe pinch to right

Lelivelt Does Some Hitting

Bludgeon of Jack Lelivelt Tulsa manager was in evidence with a pair of vicious doubles down the left field line The Tulsa field marshal counted the Oilers first run and likewise factored in the scoring of Tulsa's third and final tally when he led off in the fourteenth with a two sacker to left and completed the trip around the circuit on sacrifices by Washburn and Casey

Oilers Scored In Sixth

Cooper turned back the Oilers for five innings but the Lelivelt crew broke through with two tallies in the sixth Manager Jack was first up and hit to left for two bases Washburn bunted and Lazzeri's throw to first pulled Gunther off the bag Lelivelt swinging around third and crossing the plate on Lazzeri's error Casey forced Washburn at second but the batter romped to second when Chavez chucked wildly past first in trying for a double play Flippin crashed to left for a line single but Purdy's shotgun throw nailed Casey at the plate Flippin ambled to second on the play and sped home when Karl Black hoisted a double to the right field barricade Cooper smothered Austin's grounder for the third out

Links Tie the Score

Snyder's first homer punctuated the home gang's slice of the seventh inning Black then clamped on the brakes stopping the Links until the ninth when a two hit attack and a sacrifice knotted the count Lazzeri led off with a single moved along on Snyder's sacrifice and registered at the plate when Chavez singled to left center

Brilliant fielding by both teams persistently headed off bids for runs as the combat sped into extra innings but the next break came in the fourteenth Manager Lelivelt whacked to left for two bases moved to third on Washburn's bunt and registered at home when Casey hoisted a sacrifice fly to Skinner in deep right

Snyder's Blow Heart Breaker

Home fans were on the way to the exits when the Links took their final whirl at bat but Snyder brought them back with a mighty thump which sent the pellet soaring over the left field pickets tieing the score Snyder's wallop was a heart breaker to Black for Chavez singled past McDonald and sped to second on Dave Lamb's sacrifice Cooper's effort was a fly to deep left which landed in Austin's mitts but Moore singled through the gap between Lelivelt and Washburn and the Portuguese youngster sprinted to the home platter with the deciding run The score

HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL

Judge Landis Invited

Judge Kenesaw M Landis high commissioner of baseball has accepted an invitation to be present at the Denver Des Moines Western league game in the Iowa capital city [illegible] Advised today of Judge Landis intended visit to Des Moines President Leo Soukup of the Lincoln Fans association wired an invitation to the commissioner to include Lincoln on his itinerary

Executive head of organized base ball was asked to lend his presence on the occasion of baseball booster day in the camp of the Links scheduled for Friday August [illegible] Lincoln fans will name its baseball park in honor of Judge Landis and according to President Soukup the Nebraska capital would keenly appreciate acceptance by the judge of Lincoln's invitation

Tearney Getting Even?

Stunt of League President Tearney in keeping Umpires Gaffney and Hayes in Oklahoma City for a third series last week is explained by a member of the Tulsa party which headed into Lincoln Tuesday for a stay of three days at the local ball yard

It was up to Tearney to show Jack Holland Oklahoma City club owner that he is not running the league' the Tulsa man asserted Holland and the Oklahoma City newspapers did so much beefing on Hayes and Gaffney that Tearney simply had to keep the two umpires there during another series

That explanation possibly correct sheds light on Tearney's motives in sending Hayes and Gaffney back to Lincoln The Gaffney Hayes duo was here for the final series when the Links were at home in July Beating back from their southern trip the Links ran into Gaffney and Hayes the very first crack out of the box As Gaffney and Hayes particularly Gaffney are just about as popular in the camp of the Links as in Oklahoma City it is evident that the league prexy is getting even in double doses

Shakeup at Des Moines

Lee Keyser boss of the Des Moines club has given the Boosters a general shaking up by releasing Pitchers Edmondson and House and Outfielder Kuhe to other leagues Catcher Dougan declared a free agent because the Sioux City Tri State league club failed to pay him salary in full is no longer with the Des Moines clan and his place on the back stopping staff has been taken by Beall former Nebraska State and Tri State leaguer

Failure of Yank Davis Tulsa outfielder to hit in Tuesday's fray at Landis Field broke up a continuous streak in which Yank had smacked at least one safe knock in eighteen consecutive games

Pitcher Mutt Williams a consistent winner for the Denver Bears early in the season has been demoted to the Springfield Mo club in the Western association

Browns Come With a Rush

The American league spotlight monopolized in the past few weeks by New York Detroit and Washington is focused today upon the St Louis Browns as a result of four straight victories over the Senators and eight wins out of their last nine games The Browns now are within a game and a half of the capital representatives and four and a half games behind the Yankees who lead the Tigers by two contests

Thriving in the intense heat which evidently wilted Detroit's pitchers the Yanks crossed the plate nine times to Detroit's two Babe Ruth accounted for three of his team's tallies by whaling out his thirty fifth homer

Shocker and Danforth pitching at the best were chiefly responsible for St Louis double triumph over Washington 2 to 0 and 4 to 2

Chicago kept pace with the Browns whom they trail by four games and a half with a double win from Philadelphia 5 to 2 and 6 to 3

In a mound battle between Coveleskie and Ferguson Cleveland eked out a 1 to 0 decision over Boston

Errors Beat Cub Recruit

Errors at critical periods offset the excellent pitching of Guy Bush the Cub recruit and gave the Giants a 2 to 1 victory in 10 rounds Bush yielded but four hits

Pittsburgh continued its sensational winning streak by taking a third straight game from Brooklyn by a score of 8 to 1 The Pirates have won ten out of eleven games in the east

Eleven innings were necessary to settle the Cincinnati Philadelphia clash in favor of the former by a score of 4 to 3 The Cardinals chased seven men across the plate in the initial two frames and finally won 8 to 4 from Boston

Tom Elliott West Point defeated Kermit Yetter, Lincoln, 6 0 6 0

BY GREGG M'BRIDE

A generous downpour of rain spilled by J Pluvius on the University of Nebraska tennis courts Tuesday morning, tossed a monkey wrench in the program arranged by the state tennis tournament schedulemakers for the second day's play in the annual racquet carnival

Failure of a benevolent sun to put in an appearance and lack of so much as a gentle breeze caused the water soaked courts to be slow in drying and when dusk descended on the second day's play only two junior singles matches and little better than half of the second round in senior singles has been completed Opening round of the doubles play carded for Tuesday was put over until Wednesday morning

Second round senior singles remaining from the Tuesday program were

Joe Stanton Lincoln vs L V Swenson Omaha

Milton Flodman Wahoo vs Gordon Diesing Omaha

Charles Mathewson Walthill vs Gregg McBride Lincoln

M J Garey Lincoln vs John Calvert York

Ralph Newell Omaha vs John Moritz Seward

Second round junior singles held over to Wednesday are

Leo Thomas Lincoln vs Ben Anderson College View

Alfred Calvert York vs Robert McDonald West Point

Archard Beats Finkel

Fred Archard former Lincoln city champion eliminated Al Finkel of Omaha present state junior champion in the feature match of the Tuesday singles program Playing in the senior tourney Archard won 6 2 1 6 6

Every point of the match was stubbornly contested the sets featuring brilliant rallies with Finkel scoring heavily with back court placements while Archard was desperately scurrying to the net in an effort to cut off Finkel's efforts

Archard led throughout the first set and won handily The Lincoln player's volleys and smashes began going wild in the second set and Finkel with steady play won with ease 6 1

The rally in the second set seemed to wear down the junior champion and Archard grabbed a four love game advantage in the deciding set and coasted to victory

Finkel Advances In Junior

Finkel however is still in the junior race Preceding his match with Archard Finkel disposes of Gordon Diesing his doubles partner in a second round match Diesing found difficulty in covering the court with the speed necessary to meet Finkel's well placed shots Finkel's chop strokes were working to a perfection in this match

Ben Stilphen of Omaha eliminated Ed Smith of Chadron in straight sets while Ben Anderson of College View was declared the victor over A H Dotson of Waverly in a long drawn out match 9 7 1 6 6 4

Ray Phelps of Omaha eliminated Fred Colby member of the University of Nebraska tennis teams in straight sets in the senior singles Phelps overhead work bordered on the spectacular

Jap Player Loses Out

C L Young of York smothered the smashes of I H Mihara Japanese entry from North Platte 6 2 6 1 Mihara cut loose with some powerful ground strokes but was too wild to win against Young's steady playing

It should be assumed by the golfer that when I [illegible] the [illegible] method I am [illegible] attention to an upright or medium upright swing Most golfers use one or the other of these the medium upright perhaps is the common swing among the average run of players

There are some [illegible] who use successfully the flat swing A few take to this naturally a few fall in with instructors who teach it like Jock Hutchinson while the [illegible] finds it an absolute necessity In the flat swing the action of the left wrist at the start of the back swing is different It breaks the club backward from the ball immediately and the left forearm describes some turning the club face away from the ball and [illegible] of this swing comes inside the line immediately and the left arm is thrown out of [illegible] instead of being kept in close as in the more upright swings It is permissible to let the left wrist break the club head away from the ball at once in any swing but my method urges players to use the "late break" of the wrists that is keep the club head in line with the shaft until near the top of the back swing It is important that you get one method and stick to it All good players do that

Clarke Clan Cleans Oilers, 4-3, In First Game of Home Stay

LINKS LICK OILERS IN EXTRA INNINGS

Moore's Poke Scored Chavez With Winning Tally In Fourteenth Frame.

Snyder Pounded Two Homers; Cooper Held Lubricators To Eight Blows.

WESTERN LEAGUE WEATHER

Oklahoma City at Omaha; cloudy.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Links and Oilers struggled for mastery during fourteen frenzied innings yesterday, the home athletes grabbing the verdict, 4 to 3, in the most spectacular combat of the Lincoln season.

Southpaw Karl Black served his forkside slants for the Lubricators and Guy Cooper, right-hand ace of the Lincoln staff, toiled on the slab for the Josh Clarke clan. Both were in superb fettle and traveled the full route.

The Tulsa twirler, after hurling his way out of the numerous crises of the contest, weakened in the fourteenth frame and three Lincoln hits, abetted by a sacrifice, put the two deciding markers across the plate.

Snyder Socks Two Homers.

Catcher Bob Snyder, subbing at the first sack since the recall of Chill McDaniel by Oklahoma City, was Black's nemesis. Snyder's healthy sock over the center field fence accounted for the Links' first marker in the seventh and then in the fourteenth, when Black faltered, Snyder poled another homer which knotted the score and set up the pins for the home gang's winning spurt.

Chavvy Chavez likewise was a potent factor in the Clarke gang's triumph. The peppery Portuguese whammed two timely singles, driving in Tony Lazzeri, who had singled his way on, for the tieing run in the ninth and crossing the home dish in the fourteenth, following his single, when Eddie Moore lashed a safe punch to right.

Lelivelt Does Some Hitting.

Bludgeon of Jack Lelivelt, Tulsa manager, was in evidence with a pair of vicious doubles down the left field line. The Tulsa field marshal counted the Oilers' first run and likewise factored in the scoring of Tulsa's third and final tally, when he led off in the fourteenth with a two-sacker to left and completed the trip around the circuit on sacrifices by Washburn and Casey.

Oilers Scored In Sixth.

Cooper turned back the Oilers for five innings, but the Lelivelt crew broke through with two tallies in the sixth. Manager Jack was first up and hit to left for two bases. Washburn bunted and Lazzeri's throw to first pulled Gunther off the bag, Lelivelt swinging around third and crossing the plate on Lazzeri's error. Casey forced Washburn at second, but the batter romped to second when Chavez chucked wildly past first in trying for a double play. Flippin crashed to left for a line single, but Purdy's shotgun throw nailed Casey at the plate. Flippin ambled to second on the play and sped home when Karl Black hoisted a double to the right field barricade. Cooper smothered Austin's grounder for the third out.

Links Tie the Score.

Snyder's first homer punctuated the home gang's slice of the seventh inning. Black then clamped on the brakes, stopping the Links until the ninth, when a two-hit attack and a sacrifice knotted the count. Lazzeri led off with a single, moved along on Snyder's sacrifice and registered at the plate when Chavez singled to left center.

Brilliant fielding by both teams persistently headed off bids for runs as the combat sped into extra innings, but the next break came in the fourteenth. Manager Lelivelt whacked to left for two bases, moved to third on Washburn's bunt and registered at home when Casey hoisted a sacrifice fly to Skinner in deep right.

Snyder's Blow Heart-Breaker.

Home fans were on the way to the exits when the Links took their final whirl at bat, but Snyder brought them back with a mighty thump which sent the pellet soaring over the left field pickets, tieing the score. Snyder's wallop was a heart-breaker to Black, for Chavez singled past McDonald and sped to second on Dave Lamb's sacrifice. Cooper's effort was a fly to deep left which landed in Austin's mitts, but Moore singled through the gap between Lelivelt and Washburn and the Portuguese youngster sprinted to the home platter with the deciding run. NOTES OF THE GAME.

The Links copped a real pitcher when Guy Cooper was added to the hurling staff. Feat of Cooper in holding the hard-hittting Oilers to eight blows in fourteen frames was a performance of first rank.

Sparkling catches in the outfield by Purdy Moore and Davis were fielding features, while the pastiming by the infielders of both teams had plenty of dazzle. The Links executed one double play, while the Oilers perpetrated a pair of two-ply killings.

Cooper had Yank Davis and Mule Washburn, league leaders in mauling homers, on his staff all afternoon. Neither Yank nor Mule could connect with a hit, while Austin and McDonald also failed to register a blow.

Scotty McDonald, former Link, performed at the hot corner for the Oilers, playing his first game in Tulsa duds. Scotty kicked his first fielding opportunity, but thereafter assimilated three putouts and five assists. His one-hand catch of Cooper's high foul in the twelfth inning was a gem.

Pid Purdy performed at bat and afield in strictly class A style. The Beatrice boy is a valuable addition to the Lincoln roster. His two hits were line pokes to safe territory, while his throw to the plate in the fifth inning, nailing Casey, was nothing short of stellar stuff.

Tony Lazzeri did considerable growling over a called strike in the sixth inning. The decision stirred the Antonio's ire and he took revenge on Black with a line sock past third for a hit.

The Links failed to run the bases with heads up. On two occasions the opportunity was presented to glide from first to third on sacrifice hits. McDonald was pulled in to handle bunts and Tulsa's third sack was left unguarded by Pitcher Black. In thus muffing their chances, the Links tossed off at least one run. Scoring of that run would have prevented the game going to extra innings.

Bob Snyder's performance at the first cushion was incomparably perfect. Cartwright, who is due to join the Links today, will have to show considerable class at the initial corner to convince Lincoln fans that Snyder should not be stationed regularly in Chill McDaniel's shoes.

Suggestion that Chill's home run slugging will be missed failed to get over Tuesday. Chill never crowned the ball with mightier results than Snyder's pair of circuit clouts, both of which cleared the ramparts with yards to spare.

HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL

Judge Landis Invited.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, has accepted an invitation to be present at the Denver-Des Moines Western league game in the Iowa capital city Saturday, August 23. Advised today of Judge Landis' intended visit to Des Moines, President Leo Soukup of the Lincoln Fans, association wired an invitation to the commissioner to include Lincoln on his itinerary.

Executive head of organized baseball was asked to lend his presence on the occasion of baseball booster day in the camp of the Links, scheduled for Friday, August 22. Lincoln named its baseball park in honor of Judge Landis and, according to President Soukup, the Nebraska capital would keenly appreciate acceptance by the judge of Lincoln's invitation.

Tearney Getting Even?

Stunt of League President Tearney in keeping Umpires Gaffney and Hayes in Oklahoma City for a third series last week is explained by a member of the Tulsa party, which headed into Lincoln Tuesday for a stay of three days at the local ball yard.

"It was up to Tearney to show Jack Holland, Oklahoma City club owner, that he is not running the league," the Tulsa man asserted. "Holland and the Oklahoma City newspapers did so much beefing on Hayes and Gaffney that Tearney simply had to keep the two umpires there during another series."

That explanation, possibly correct, sheds light on Tearney's motives in sending Hayes and Gaffney back to Lincoln. The Gaffney-Hayes duo was here for the final series when the Links were at home in July. Beating back from their southern trip, the Links ran into Gaffney and Hayes the very first crack out of the box. As Gaffney and Hayes, particularly Gaffney, are just about as popular in the camp of the Links as in Oklahoma City, it is evident that the league prexy was getting even in double doses.

Shakeup at Des Moines.

Lee Keyser, boss of the Des Moines club, has given the Boosters a general shaking up by releasing Pitchers Edmondson and House and Outfielder Kirke to other leagues. Catcher Dougan, declared a free agent because the Sioux City Tri-State league club failed to pay him salary in full, is no longer with the Des Moines clan and his place on the back-stopping staff has been taken by Beall, former Nebraska State and Tri-State leaguer.

Failure of Yank Davis, Tulsa outfielder, to hit in Tuesday's fray at Landis Field broke up a continuous streak in which Yank had smacked at least one safe knock in eighteen consecutive games.

Pitcher Mutt Williams, a consistent winner for the Denver Bears early in the season, has been demoted to the Springfield, Mo., club in the Western association.

Browns Come With a Rush.

The American league spotlight, monopolized in the past few weeks by New York, Detroit and Washington, is focused today upon the St. Louis Browns as a result of four straight victories over the Senators and eight wins out of their last nine games. The Browns now are within a game and a half of the capital representatives and four and a half games behind the Yankees, who lead the Tigers by two contests.

Thriving in the intense heat, which evidently wilted Detroit's pitchers, the Yanks crossed the plate nine times to Detroit's two. Babe Ruth accounted for three of his team's tallies by whaling out his thirty-fifth homer.

Shocker and Danforth, pitching at the best, were chiefly responsible for St. Louis' double triumph over Washington, 2 to 0 and 4 to 2.

Chicago kept pace wth the Browns, whom they trail by four games and a half, with a double win from Philadelphia, 5 to 2 and 6 to 3.

In a mound battle between Coveleskie and Ferguson, Cleveland eked out a 1 to 0 decision over Boston.

Errors Beat Cub Recruit.

Errors at critical periods offset the excellent pitching of Guy Bush, the Cub recruit, and gave the Giants a 2 to 1 victory in 10 rounds. Bush yielded but four hits.

Pittsburgh continued its sensational winning streak by taking a third straight game from Brooklyn by a score of 8 to 1. The Pirates have won ten out of eleven games in the east.

Eleven innings were necessary to settle the Cincinnati-Philadelphia clash in favor of the former by a score of 4 to 3. The Cardinals chased seven men across the plate in the initial two frames and finally won 8 to 4, from Boston.

RAIN HOLDS UP TENNIS MATCHES

Weather Man Curtails Tuesday Program In Annual State Tourney.

Archard Eiminates Finkel And Young Turns Back Jap Racqueteer.

ELLIOTT IN FOURTH ROUND.

Don Elliott of Lincoln, present state singles champion, went into the third round of the annual Nebraska tournament this morning when he defeated W. Hellwege of Seward, 6-0, 6-2.

John Calvert of York won a second round match from W. Burgert of Kearney, 6-0, 6-2.

Joe Stanton of Lincoln smothered L. V. Swenson of Omaha, 6-0, 6-0.

Ralph Newell, Omaha, won from John Moritz, Seward, 6-4, 6-1.

Gordon Diesing, Omaha, defeated Milton Flodman, Wahoo, 6-3, 6-2.

In the junior singles, Alfred Calvert, York, won from Robert McDonald, West Point, 8-6, 6-3.

J. D. Ringwalt, Omaha, defeated John Ward, Lincoln, 6-2, 6-4.

William Metz, Seward, defeated Lynn Trombla, Lincoln, 6-3, 6-4.

Tom Elliott, West Point, defeated Kermit Yetter, Lincoln, 6-0, 6-0.

BY GREGG M'BRIDE.

A generous downpour of rain, spilled by J. Pluvius on the University of Nebraska tennis courts Tuesday morning, tossed a monkey-wrench in the program arranged by the state tennis tournament schedulemakers for the second day's play in the annual racquet carnival.

Failure of a benevolent sun to put in an appearance and lack of so much as a gentle breeze caused the water-soaked courts to be slow in drying and when dusk descended on the second day's play, only two junior singles matches and little better than half of the second round in senior singles has been completed. Opening round of the doubles play, carded for Tuesday, was put over until Wednesday morning.

Second round senior singles remaining from the Tuesday program were;

Joe Stanton, Lincoln, vs. L. V. Swenson, Omaha.
Milton Flodman, Wahoo, vs. Gordon Diesing, Omaha.
Charles Mathewson Walthill, vs. Gregg McBride, Lincoln.
M. J. Garey, Lincoln, vs. John Calvert, York.
Ralph Newell, Omaha, vs. John Moritz, Seward.

Second round junior singles, held over to Wednesday, are:

Leo Thomas, Lincoln, vs. Ben Anderson, College View.
Alfred Calvert, York, vs. Robert McDonald, West Point.
Maurice McAvoy, Fairmont, vs. Robert Hanna, York.
J. D. Ringwalt Omaha, vs. John Ward, Lincoln.
Tom Elliott, West Point, vs. Kermit Yetter Lincoln.
Stanton Kennedy, Omaha, vs. winner William Metz-Lynn Trombla match.

Archard Beats Finkel.

Fred Archard former Lincoln city champion, eliminated Al Finkel of Omaha, present state junior champion, in the feature match of the Tuesday singles program. Playing in the senior tourney Archard won 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

Every point of the match was stubornly contested, the sets featuring brilliant rallies, with Finkel scoring heavily with back court placements, while Archard was desperately scurrying to the net in an effort to cut off Finkel's efforts.

Archard led throughout the first set and won handily. The Lincoln player's volleys and smashes began going wild in the second set and Finkel, with steady play, won with ease, 6-1.

The rally in the second set seemed to wear down the junior champion and Archard grabbed a four-love game advantage in the deciding set and coasted to victory.

Finkel Advances In Junior.

Finkel, however, is still in the junior race. Preceding his match with Archard, Finkel disposes of Gordon Diesing, his doubles partner, in a second round match. Diesing found difficulty in covering the court with the speed necessary to meet Finkel's well-placed shots. Finkel's chop strokes were working to a perfection in this match.

Ben Stilphen of Omaha eliminated Ed Smith of Chadron in straight sets, while Ben Anderson of College View was declared the victor over A. H. Dotson of Waverly in a long drawn-out match, 9-7, 1-6, 6-4.

Ray Phelps of Omaha eliminated Fred Colby, member of the University of Nebraska tennis teams, in straight sets in the senior singles. Phelps' overhead work bordered on the spectacular.

Jap Player Loses Out.

C. L. Young of York, smothered the smashes of I. H. Mihara, Japanese entry from North Platte, 6-2, 6-1. Mihara cut loose with some powerful ground strokes, but was too wild to win against Young's steady playing.

Don Elliott of Lincoln, present state champion; Charley Mathewson of Walthill, runner-up in 1923; Paul Mahood, present city champion, and Bob Russell won their matches in short order. W. Hellwege of Seward went into the third round at the expense of his fellow-townsman, Ed Vail.

Results of Tuesday matches:

Army Field Named After Hank Gowdy

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Before the crowd attending the Chicago-New York baseball game at the Polo grounds yesterday, Hank Gowdy, Giant catcher, was presented by General Briant H. Welles, with a engrossed copy of the order naming the army athletic field at Fort Benning, Ga., after him. As a preliminary to the presentation, a platoon of infantry marched in review before a group of high ranking officers.

Gowdy was the first major league ball player to enlist when America entered the world war. He took part in many major engagements and was mustered out with the rank of sergeant.

Persistent In Demand Firpo Be Sent Home

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prize-fighter, was demanded today by the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"Firpo knows as much about boxing as we do and we have to do it with a hammer and nails," said D. Pickett, secretary of the board. "He is simply a big husky who isn't a trap because he doesn't have to be a tramp. There are undoubtedly plenty of men in the prisons of the country who know more about boxing, not to mention many other subjects."

Pickett called attention to the deportation of Bianca Lourdes, who came to New York on the same ship with Firpo a few weeks ago, and declared that "if it is right to admit a male one, it is right to admit a female one."

Firpo's case is now being investigated by the immigration bureau of the department of labor following a demand made by Canon Chase of New York for the fighter's deportation.

Lincoln Sports In Win On Prison Lot

The Lincoln Sports shut out the Prison team Tuesday evening, 6 to 0. Lewis, on the hillock for the Sports, held the Prison club hitless until two were down in the last inning, when Wick garnered the lone hit for the Prison team. The Sports gathered nine hits off Smith, three of the blows going for extra bases. Score by innings:

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

It should be assumed by the golfer that when I describe a method, I am discussing its application to an upright or a medium upright swing. Most golfers use one or the other of these — the medium upright perhaps is the common swing among the average run of players.

There are some players, however, who use successfully the flat swing. A few take to this naturally, a few fall in with instructors who teach it, like Jock Hutchinson, while the very fat man finds it an absolute necessity. In the flat swing the action of the left wrist at the start of the back swing is different. It breaks the club backward from the ball immediately, and the left forearm also rolls some, turning the clubface away from the ball and back. The circle of this swing comes "inside the line" immediately and the left arm is thrown out some from the body instead of being kept in close, as in the more upright swings. It is permissible to let the left wrist break the clubhead away from the ball at once, in any swing, but my method urges players to use the "late break" of the wrists—that is, keep the clubhead in line with the shaft until near the top of the back swing. It is important that you get one method and stick to it. All good players do that.

Annual Convention Of K. C. Attended By Five Thousand

NEW YORK August 6—Five thousand Knights of Columbus attended a solemn high mass at St Patrick's cathedral Tuesday which formally opened the forty-second annual international convention The mass was celebrated by Bishop Daniel J Carley of Syracuse

Bishop William Turner of Buffalo one of the national leaders of the Catholic hierarchy made Americanism the keynote of sermon and extolled the work of the knights

Besides delegates from the forty-eight states others in attendance are from the Philippines Hawaii and the Canal Zone

TRAIN OF RECORD LENGTH

ALEXANDRIA La. August 6—What is believed to have been a record for the longest train in the history of American railroading made up last week by the Missouri Pacific into Alexandria in connection with the present enormous movement of crude oil from the Arkansas fields through this city to the Standard Refinery at Baton Rouge and to Avondale and Sabine Pass for export it was disclosed by railroad officials The single train was in eight sections of fifty cars each

HOW I LOST 50 POUNDS

In 2 Months Without Diets, Exercise, Rollers or Massage.

New French Method Explained by Mme. Elaine of New York.

"I did not have to go through strenuous exercises nor rub myself with absurd creams, which generally put on flesh instead of taking it off. I did not wear weakening garments, nor torture myself with diets. I was fortunate enough while in Europe to find out the secrets with which millionaires French actresses and beautiful women of Paris keep their figures slender. Not only did I easily and gradually lose 50 pounds but the reduction was lasting as I have never gained a pound since stopping the treatment. I feel and look years younger, and my health has greatly improved with this wonderful discovery. No matter how fat you are, you may do just as I did and easily lose a few pounds every week without any danger. Simply go to any good drug store get a package of SAN-GRI-NA tablets (insist on these as nothing like it has ever been offered before to the public) take it as per directions and watch your weight go down. You can eat all you want while you take SAN GRI NA. AS IT IS GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS, it is the formula of a French physician and is sold with a money back guarantee."

On sale at Rehlaender's Piller's, Cocklin's or Rector's Drug Stores.

TAKES POSITION WITH UNIVERSITY

Dr. Julius F. Schwartz Becomes Executive Secretary Of Omaha School.

Resigns Pastorate of Hickman Church Which He Has Held Eight Years.

Beginning September 1, the Rev. Dr. Julius F. Schwarz, pastor of the Hickman Presbyterian church, will become executive secretary of the University of Omaha. Dr. Schwarz will be in charge of the business department of the university, budgeting of finances, the books, securing new endowments, and caring for of property given for endowment purposes.

Previous to his Hickman pastorate, Dr. Schwarz was district superintendent of the Synod of Nebraska for three years, with headquarters in Omaha. One of his most unique accomplishments was the erection of a combined church and manse from brick and stone collected from odd corners of Omaha. Discarded street car rails were used for rafters. The extra stone was donated to the University of Omaha for the gymnasium, then a new building.

While in Omaha, Dr. Schwarz was associated with Dr. Daniel E. Jenkins, president of the university, one of its founders and most ardent supporters. The university opened in a large frame house in 1910, but it now has classes in two modern brick and stone buildings and plans are being made for a third. The school is nondenominational and offers a four-year liberal arts course and a law course.

On the first of May, this year, Dr. Schwarz completed the eighth year of his Hickman ministry, and Hickman is his third pastorate in the twenty-three years of his Christian service. The other two were at Connersville, Ind., and the First German Presbyterian church of Omaha. Dr. Schwarz is the third Presbyterian minister in the Hickman church in forty-six years. While in Hickman, the seating capacity of the church has been doubled, a large modern manse erected, and 176 members added, making a church membership of more than 300.

Dr. Schwarz graduated from the Dubuque Theological seminary, Dubuque, Ia., and received his doctor's degree from Hastings college. He has been stated clerk of the Synod of Nebraska, in charge of all synod documents, for twelve years, and was recently re-elected for a term of three years.

WANT FORD TO OPPOSE COUZENS

Move To Place Manufacturer's Name On Ballot As Senatorial Candidate.

(Associated Press.)

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 6.—A move to place Henry Ford's name on the September primary ballots as a republican candidate for the United States senatorial nomination, opposing Senator James Couzens, was launched here today, apparently by interests favorable to the candidacy of W. W. Potter, chairman of the public utilities commission for the nomination for governor.

The secretary of the public utilities commission caused Ford nominating petitions to be printed and one set was to be placed in circulation in Detroit.

It is believed the action was taken without Mr. Ford's knowledge.

Party leaders professed to see in the move an attempt to link up the gubernatorial candidate with a Ford movement. Potter disclaimed all connection with the idea, declaring that the secretary of the commission, who is interested in the Potter campaign, acted independently.

Says Plan "Absurd."

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—The movement to make Henry Ford a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator was started without Mr. Ford's knowledge or consent, it was said at his offices here today.

The plan was described as "absurd."

"Why should Mr. Ford become a senatorial candidate when he refused to run for presidentp" an official of the Ford company asked.

WANT STUDY OF FARM ILLS MADE

Council of Agriculture Asks President to Appoint Special Commission.

CHICAGO, August 6—A petition requesting President Coolidge to ask the secretary of agriculture to appoint "an extraordinary commission" to study the basic needs of agriculture and recommend definite remedial legislation to congress has been sent to the president by the American Council of Agriculture, it was disclosed yesterday. "The council does not regard the current increase in the price of farm products as fundametally meeting the requirements of the agricultural situation," said the petition, "but on the contrary it believes that these requirements can be met only by definitely and permanently establishing agriculture on a parity with industry and labor by extending to it the principles of the protective system in a manner that will insure an American price for the American requirements, independent of the world price for the surplus."

Cosmopolitan Club To Hear Candidates For Governorship

Through action taken Tuesday noon at a luncheon of the Cosmopolitan club, the three candidates for governor in Nebraska will be asked to address the club at some future meeting on "Good Government." The addresses will be non-political.

The club decided to make the Lincoln hotel its meeting place permanently and sessions will probably be held in the Chinese room until cooler weather when they will be transferred to the Garden room.

A musical program will feature the program next Tuesday.

GRAIN MARKETS

CHICAGO Ill Aug 6

Wheat turned weak during the late dealings today after sharp gains The weakness at the last was ascribed to enlargement of hedging sales and of sales to realize profits

The close was heavy at 1 ¾c net lower September $1 @1 2¼ and December $1 3@1 3

WHEAT—Although in sympathy with lower quotations at Liverpool the market here showed weakness at the opening to day Absence of selling pressure was a factor upturns becoming rapid when reports of bullish developed Besides bullish estimates of world supply were current the total being figured at 3 3 0 000 000 bushels as against 3 430 000 000 a year ago Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures as yesterday s finish to lower September $1 2 @1 5 and were followed by a rally that in some cases amounted to 3c a bushel

Subsequently advices pointing to increased development of black rust in Manitoba had a further bullish effect and so too did assertions that liberal export business had been put through today Advances however failed to hold

CORN—Corn rallied with wheat despite favorable crop reports After opening ¼ to 1¼ down December $ 0 @1 2 the corn market scored material gains

Corn eased down later when wheat turned down grade Corn closed weak at the same as yesterday to 1¼c lower December $1 02¾@1 0

OATS—Oats were unresponsive to advances in other cereals Starting at ¾c off to at up September 48¾@49c oats soon showed a rise all around

PROVISIONS—Provisions were without any significant change

KEENEY GIVES SECOND ADDRESS

Attendance Over 500 Mark at Morning Services at the Assembly.

Mrs. Oleson Discusses "Women In Politics" At Afternoon Program.

Attendance at the morning services at the Epworth assembly was well over 500 Wednesday morning when Bishop F T Keeney delivered his second sermon on Christ in Personal Experience or the Indwelling Christ

The group meeting for the Bible conferences each morning at 9 o clock is growing with the growing differences between groups on the interpretation of the Scriptures About 200 met with Dr Whitchurch Wednesday to discuss The Kingdom of God

Mrs Anna Dickie Olesen characterized as the little Minnesota spell binder was on the afternoon program to speak on Women in Politics Assembly singing at 2 o clock and the Russian Cathedral quartet program at 3 30 were scheduled for the afternoon

Harry Armstrong director of the assembly choir sang preceding Bishop Keeney s sermon Mrs Armstrong accompanied him on the piano

Bishop Keeney quoted a number of Scriptural passages to bring home the idea of having Christ dwelling within us His message for the morning he said was to impress the fact that the Christian religion is something more than doctrine

The cooler weather seems to have cut down gate receipts somewhat probably because of fear of rain assembly officials thought

The evening program for Wednesday

7 45—Assembly singing

8 30—Concert by the Russian Cathedral quartet

8 30—Motion pictures Throughout Galilee Epworth hall

A sermon by Bishop Keeney and another Bible conference under the leadership of Dr Whitchurch are on Thursday morning program Dr Isaac T Headland for sixteen years head of the University of Peking China is to speak at 2 30 on By Products of Civilization

BRITISH DECIDE TO CALL PARLIAMENT

Irish Boundary Question Expected To Be Finally Settled.

(Associated Press)

LONDON Aug 6—Colonial Secretary Thomas announced in the house of commons this afternoon that after a full and frank discussion of the Irish boundary problem with members of the Free State government the British government had decided to summon parliament to deal with the question September 30 unless by that time the Ulster government had nominated boundary commissioners in connection with the provisions of the Anglo Irish treaty

In the meantime Mr Thomas said the government would introduce a bill providing for the settlement of the question along the lines previously indicated by government spokesmen The second reading of the bill would be proceeded with and the bill pressed forward when parliament met in September he added

SLAYS ONE AND ENDS OWN LIFE

(Associated Press)

CASS LAKE Minn Aug 6—Running amuck on a Great Northern train here last night N J Lindberg believed to be from Portland Ore attacked passengers and trainmen jumped from the train here where he killed one man and wounded another probably fatally and then killed him self

The man killed was Charles Richards of Cass Lake Lindberg according to reports called Richards from his home asked him if he was a member of the American Legion and when the latter replied affirmatively crushed his skull with a blow with a monkey wrench he had seized on the train

Heat Causes Five Deaths in Chicago

CHICAGO Aug 6—Five deaths attributable to the heat several prostrations and an accident in which three women were seriously hurt was Chicago's record Tuesday as the thermometer climbed from the lower seventies in the morning to 92 at 5 p m

Relief came to the sweltering city at night in the form of a heavy electrical and rain storm that at times almost assumed the proportions of a cloudburst sending the temperature down fifteen degrees in less than an hour

Budget Ready Monday

Mr Dayton said that he would have the budgets of the several departments in shape for submission to the council at the meeting next Monday

The commissioners in preparing their budgets for the coming year have made estimates for new undertakings in their departments hoping the money will be available to put them through

John Wright has included in his estimate the money for a new fire house in southeast Lincoln and funds necessary for the men to operate it

In the park department it is planned to build a place for a skating rink in the winter time The pool will be 4 feet deep, 85 feet wide and 300 feet long It is the intention to install the rink this fall north of the municipal tennis court and no charge will be made for skating In the summer time the place will be used as a wading pool for children A place to make shade for mothers watching the youngsters is part of the plan

For the police department Chief Johnstone has asked for money with which to install an automatic electric traffic system He also wants enough more than last year to allow him to employ the year around the four men he was compelled to release recently because of lack of funds

Commissioner Schroeder s water department supplies its own funds and the estimate for the light department will be about the same as that of a year ago

Wants More Park Land

Mayor Zehrung as head of the park department will also ask for the money for the addition of some new land to the park as well as a filteration plant at the municipal pool and a cottage in South Van Dorn park at Ninth and Van Dorn streets The cottage will be for the use of a caretaker at that park and the F street playgrounds

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING

Leo people have the most remarkable power of moulding public opinion and in swaying great audiences In fact a truly awakened Leo man or woman is invincible if he or she will master this pathway to success

These people have a great love for their own and will not yield to advice or dictation in the management of their children Leo women have been looked upon as angels in their neighborhood until one of their children is hurt or reproved and then their ferocity is astonishing A fault found with them a complaint made against them will arouse a mother to the highest pitch of anger

Leo is the sign governing this date and the governing planet is the Sun The birthstone is a ruby or diamond and the colors are red and green

MARKET QUOTATIONS

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.

CATTLE—Receipts, 5,500. Although cattle receipts were very moderate for Wednesday, the market was dull, and bids and sales again 15 to 25c lower. Best yearlings sold around $10.25 andp rime handy weight steers at $10.75. Cows and heifers were also badly demoralized and sharply lower, the common canning grades selling down around $1.25 to $1.75, or the lowest for many months. Decline of beef steers and butcher stock for the three days amounts to fully 50 to 75c, and in some cases more. Trade in stockers and feeders continues quiet with prices steady to strong.

Tuesday's quotations on cattle: Beef steers, $6.10@11.15; beef steers and heifers, $8.75@10.50; cows, $2.75@8.00; fat heifers, $9.50; veal calves, $6.00@8.25; bulls, $4.00@7.50. Western cattle: Nebraska—Heifers, $4.50; stockers, $5.60. Wyoming—Heifers, $3.75; calves, $8.25; stockers, $5.75@6.70; feeders, $5.65@6.35; feeders, $6.65@7.25. South Dakota—Steers, $5.35@7.25; cows, $2.50@4.00; heifers, $3.90; calves, $5.90; feeders, $5.75. Colorado—Cows, $3.85. Idaho—Cows, $4.50; feeders, $6.85@7.65.

HOGS—Receipts, 14,000. A moderate increase in supplies and slightly lower trend at other markets tended to weaken values this morning, and movement to shippers was on a 25c to in extremes, 40c lower basis while the packer trade was rather slow at mostly 25c decline. Bulk, $7.75@9.50; practical top, $9.65.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.

The upward movement of stock prices continued to falter today under heavy realizing sales. Independent strength was shown by a number of the rails, leathers and public utilities. Sales approximate 950,000 shares.

Realizing sales continued to place a strain on the stock market at today's opening, giving it an irregular appearance. United States Steel common and several independent steels move dfractionally lower, while various railroad shares yielded further to profit taking.

With the initial batch of selling orders absorbed, the way was opened for recovery in certain sections of the list. General Electric rebounded 2⅜ points and American Tobacco, Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron, American Can, Timken Roller Bearing and Mack Truck moved up a point or so, the latter reaching a new 1924 high price.

Foreign exchanges opened higher.

Prices strengthened as trading progressed, with a good demand developing for the rail, oil, leather and public utilities issues, several of which established high prices for the year.

Delaware & Hudson, Western Consolidated Gas and Detroit Edison and Central Leather preferred were added to the list of the new 1924 highs. Fisher body broke 17 points, and Pressed Steel Car preferred yielded 2 points to 68, a new low. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Considerable irregularity developed in the early morning when weakness cropped out in several specialties.

The close aws irregular.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 6.

Wheat turned weak during the late dealings today after sharp gains. The weakness at the last was ascribed to enlargement of hedging sales and of sales to realize profits.

The close was heavy, ¾ to 1⅜c net lower, September, $1.27½@1.27¼ and December $1.31@1.31¼.

WHEAT—Although in sympathy with lower quotations at Liverpool, the market here showed weakness at the opening today. Absence of selling pressure was a factor, upturns becoming a rapid when some good buying developed. Besides, bullish estimates of world supply were current, the total being figured at 3,080,000,000 bushels as against 3,430,000,000 a year ago. Opening prices, which varied from the samee as yesterday's finish to 1⅛c lower, September $1.27½@1.28, and December $1.30⅞@1.31¾, were followed by a rally that in some cases amounted to 3c a bushel.

Subsequently, advices pointing to increased development of black rust in Manitoba had a further bullish effect and so, too, did assertions that liberal export business had been put through today. Advaices, however, failed to hold.

CORN—Corn rallied with wheat, despite favorable crop reports. After opening ¼ to 1⅛c down, December $1.02⅝@1.03, the corn market scored material gains.

Corn eased down later when wheat turned down grade. Corn closed weak, at the same as yesterday to 1¼c lower; December $1.02⅛@1.02¼.

OATS—Oats were unresponsive to advances in other cereals. Starting at ⅝c off to ¼c up, September 48¾@49c, oats soon showed a rise all around.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were without any significant change.

KEENEY GIVES SECOND ADDRESS

Attendance Over 500 Mark at Morning Services at the Assembly.

Mrs. Oleson Discusses "Women In Politics" At Afternoon Program.

Attendance at the morning services at the Epworth assembly was well over 500 Wednesday morning when Bishop F. T. Keeney delivered his second sermon on "Christ in Personal Experience or the In-dwelling Christ."

The group meeting for the Bible conferences each morning at 9 o'clock is growing with the growing differences between groups on the interpretation of the Scriptures. About 200 met with Dr. Whitchurch Wednesday, to discuss "The Kingdom of God."

Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleson, characterized as "the little Minnesota spellbinder," was on the afternoon program to speak on "Women in Politics." Assembly singing at 2 o'clock and the Russian Cathedral quartet program at 3:30 were scheduled for the afternoon.

Harry Armstrong, director of the assembly choir, sang preceding Bishop Keeney's sermon. Mrs. Armstrong accompanied him on the piano.

Bishop Keeney quoted a number of Scriptural passages to bring home the idea of "having Christ dwelling within us." His message for the morning, he said, was to impress the fact that the Christian religion is something more than doctrine.

The cooler weather seems to have cut down gate receipts somewhat, probably because of fear of rain, assembly officials thought.

The evening program for Wednesday.

7:45—Assembly singing.

8:30—Concert by the Russian Cathedral quartet.

8:30—Motion pictures, "Throughout Galilee" Epworth hall.

A sermon by Bishop Keeney and another Bible conference under the leadership of Dr. Whitchurch are on Thursday morning program. Dr. Isaac T. Headland, for sixteen years head of the University of Peking, China, is to speak at 2:30 on "By-Products of Civilization."

BRITISH DECIDE TO CALL PARLIAMENT

Irish Boundary Question Expected To Be Finally Settled.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Colonial Secretary Thomas announced in the house of commons this afternoon that after a full and frank discussion of the Irish boundary problem with members of the Free State government, the British government had decided to summon parliament to deal with the question September 30, unless by that time the Ulster government had nominated boundary commissioners in connection with the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

In the meantime Mr. Thomas said, the government would introduce a bill providing for the settlement of the question along the lines previously indicated by government spokesmen. The second reading of the bill would be proceeded with, and the bill pressed forward when parliament met in September, he added.

SLAYS ONE AND ENDS OWN LIFE

(Associated Press.)

CASS LAKE, Minn., Aug 6.—Running amuck on a Great Northern train here last night, N. J. Lindberg, believed to be from Portland, Ore., attacked passengers and trainmen, jumped from the train here, where he killed one man and wounded another, probably fatally, and then killed himself.

The man killed was Charles Richards of Cass Lake. Lindberg, according to reports, called Richards from his home, asked him if he was a member of the American Legion and when the latter replied affirmatively, crushed his skull with a blow with a monkey wrench he had seized on the train.

Heat Causes Five Deaths in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Five deaths attributable to the heat, several prostrations and an accident in which thre women, were seriously hurt was Chicago's record Tuesday as the thermometer climbed from the lower seventies in the morning to 92 at 5 p. m.

Relief came to the sweltering city at night in the form of a heavy electrical and rain storm that at times almost assumed the proportions of a cloudburst, sending the temperature down fifteen degrees in less than an hour.

CITY VALUATION SHOWS INCREASE

property amounts to $16,490,360; estates, $95,685; public utilities were assessed at $4,850,645 and the banks at $1,261,325, or 25 per cent of their actual value. The rolling stock of the Burlington was assessed at $131,610; the Rock Island $75,465; the Union Pacific $42,585, and the Missouri Pacific at $26,465, or 60 per cent of the actual valuation. The tangible valuations of the railroads totals $2,698,005. This includes the complete valuation of the Chicago Northwestern.

Budget Ready Monday.

Mr. Dayton said that he would have the budgets of the several departments in shape for submission to the council at the meeting next Monday.

The commissioners in preparing their budgets for the coming year have made estimates for new undertakings in their departments, hoping the money will be available to put them through.

John Wright has included in his estimate the money for a new fire house in southeast Lincoln, and funds necessary for the men to operate it.

In the park department it is planned to build a place for a skating rink in the winter time. The pool will be 4 feet deep, 85 feet wide and 300 feet long. It is the intention to install the rink this fall north of the municipal tennis court and no charge will be made for skating. In the summer time the place will be used as a wading pool for children. A place to make shade for mothers watching the youngsters is part of the plan.

For the police department Chief Johnstone has asked for money with which to install an automatic electric traffic system. He also wants enough more than last year to allow him to employ the year around the four men he was compelled to release recently because of lack of funds.

Commissioner Schroeder's water department supplies its own funds and the estimate for the light department will be about the same as that of a year ago.

Wants More Park Land.

Mayor Zehrung, as head of the park department will also ask for the money for the addition of some new land to the park as well as a filteration plant at the municipal pool and a cottage in South Van Dorn park at Ninth and Van Dorn streets. The cottage will be for the use of a caretaker at that park and the F street playgrounds.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

Leo people have the most remarkable power of moulding public opinion and in swaying great audiences. In fact, a truly awakened Leo man or woman is invincible if he or she will master this pathway to success.

These people have a great love for their own, and will not yield to advice or dictation in the management of their children. Leo women have been looked upon as angels in their neighborhood, until one of their children is hurt or reproved, and then their ferocity is astonishing. A fault found with them, a complaint made against them, will arouse a mother to the highest pitch of anger.

Leo is the sign governing this date, anr the governing planet is the Sun. The birthstone is a ruby or diamond, and the colors are red andg reen.

If you have something you wish to sell, and do not know how to put it before the public, why not use The Star Want Ads. There could be no better medium.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The low pressure trough has moved slowly eastward, and the lowest pressure is now over extreme eastern Iowa. It is followed by an area of high pressure, centered over eastern Montana. Heavy thundershowers have resulted in extreme eastern Iowa and in northern Illinois, and lighter showers throughout the upper Mississippi and middle Missouri valley. Cooler weather has overspread the entire Missouri valley and the southwestern plains, but it continues warm from the Mississippi river eastward.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

The Selfish Lover.

Dear Minerva: I surely enjoy your mail and the various questions discussed by the readers. I have written you several times, and your advice has helped me considerably.

I have become very much interested in the most wonderful young man, and I can honestly say that he is the only person I ever saw that I could not become a friend to. We were pals for a couple of months and quite suddenly he quit coming to see me, yet he is always so nice and friendly to me. I have asked him to come to see me, but he never does any more. Minerva, I have learned to love this man, when he and I were pals, and I think that deep in his heart he loves me. He tells some of my friends how much he cares for me yet treats me so funny. I want to know how to gain and keep the friendship of this man. Not that I want to marry him, now, but perhaps some day. I do not quite understand him, yet while I am away from him or do not hear from him, I go crazy. He treated me so wonderful for a long time, and sometimes I think that he is just a sort of sheik and discovers all the new girls and plays around with them all. I know that I am pretty and have pretty clothes and I also realize that I care too much for him, and am so afraid that I show it.

I have played the game and I think I know men pretty well, but this one is quite a puzzle. He likes himself best, and the wilder the girls are, the better he likes them. He told me one night that we were going to be married some day, but he wanted to play around first. Minerva, he is just a wonderful fellow and I want to make him appreciate his good qualities. O! Rave on, dear lady, I love him better than life itself. This, of course, may seem like banana oil to you, but seeing him is the only thing I have to look forward to from one day to the next. I stay at home and he runs wilder as the nights go by.

In this day and time, men want a companion for a wife and they go to the dogs most of the time, yet when they marry, they expect pertection. This fellow knows only too well that I love him, and I know that is the whole trouble When I like any one I show it too well, and I have always made friends so easy until this sheik came along. I do not care what he does, I am ready to stand by him, right or wrong, and I want you to tell me how to be a companion to him and make him like me That sounds rather foolish when you can have a new man every day, but I have played around quite a bit myself and know the ways of the world, and this man is the only man I have ever known that could send a thrill through me. I am just in Paradise when I am with him or talk to him. I certainly do not know how to solve this problem. Of course, time will tell, because this sheik has caused me more worry, tears, happiness and joy that I have ever known.

I remember a letter from Helen a long time ago, saying that men did not appreciate the love of a girl these days and for that reason she had changed her disposition. I am afraid that is gradually making me change the wonderful disposition I used to havve. Perhaps I try to please this wonderful man too much, he is the only man I ever saw or ever knew that I wanted to be with forever. I want him to be the father of my children, and if I have but an hour to live, it would be with him. So deep in my heart, I feel that the real love has come to my life, and may come to him some day. When you feel that no matter what happens to the man you love, it could not change you a bit, and have had several things really happen, then it must be a case of real love. No matter how dark the days are, and lots of them are dark, I always have him to look forward to and feel that every cloud has its silver lining, but it is surely hard to see. Although I do not go with him, I am with him a few minutes every day. I have tried to make myself believe that he is just testing me, because he is divorced and said that he would surely test the next woman he married on account of the divorce. I went with him before the divorce and afterwards, and now he treats me so funny. Minerva, please do not tell me to forget him. That won't do in this case, because my heart and I are wrapped up in this fellow. He has always said that I was too good to go with him, but love changes a lot of things. I have lots of other friends and other things to be interested in, yet this man nearly drives me to drink. If this was infatuation, it would have changed by time and it seems to have grown deeper and the big ambition of my life is to make this man happy and I know that I could. Please, Minerva, tell me how to be a friend to him. We are friends and yet we are as far apart as poles. Many a time he has spoken of the home we were going to have and I have a wonderful hope chest, and now he treats me cold. I have given him a square deal if any girl ever gave the only man she loved one. Please consider this letter seriously before answering it because something has got to be done. Tell me what a man likes in a girl best, and things that worry a man. Maybe I show how wild I am about him, and maybe some day he will wake up to the fact that I am the one that has stood by him against the talk of all my friends and some of his own My pal says that I am just wasting time on him because he could not appreciate anything that is real and true, and the love of any one. He is not engaged to any one else and usually stages it unless I am with him. It is killing me to go on like this, yet he seems to enjoy doing things that worry me Maybe since he has what he has wanted so long, to make me love him, why should he care how he treats me. I sincerely hope to have an answer very soon because life is not quite so wonderful without him — A DREAMER.

A. It is difficult to distinguish infatuation from love, for the participants or for the observer. From your description of your emotions, it would seem that you at least believe yourself to be in love Surely love spells sacrifice and service, and you believe yourself to be eager to both sacrifice for and serve this man.

Nevertheless I believe him to be unworthy or else simply not honestly in love with you. No doubt he is a selfish man and loves himself more than anyone else. Love to him is a game, not a sacred birthright. He is probably one of the audacious sort, knowing which ones to pet and caress, which ones to keep waiting and where to tread softly. Playing on feminine emotions and winning the desperate affection of a girl, as yours, is all a pastime to him, all in the day's play.

Women have always lost their hearts easily and madly to the dashing men who have no scruples or heart.

The honorable man does not delight in taunting a girl, either the girl he loves or a girl who merely loves him Nor does he talk lightly to her of marriage, keeping her dangling in wait while he plays around and makes up his mind whether he wishes to marry or not.

If your pride and sense of security do not prompt you to struggle against the strong tide of emotion that holds you to this man, I do not know what will. Married to him, you would be miserable. He would always take your devotion lightly, and disport himself loosely and carelessly while you took the responsibilities of marriage heavily upon your own frail shoulders. He would hurt you continually with his indifference, his selfishness, raising you to the seventh Heaven by spasmodic love making, then leaving you in dull despair by his neglect.

But if you feel that you love him in spite of his unworthiness, if you continue to disregard self and hope only to win him for a permanent liability, then, for the sake of your own desires, cease wearing your heart on your sleeve. Play the game yourself. Learn to be wiley and sly. Win his interest by placing yourself apparently beyond his reach, by displaying to him other admirers and indifference when he expects your usual warm response. He is the sort of man who likes to be kept guessing, to whom the greatest joy lies in the chase, and to whom certainty is boresome

The Same With You.

Dear Minerva: Squareheart has a flattering opinion of himself, hasn't he? How human he is He loves everybody that thinks as he does and hates those who think differently. I think he's going a little bit too far when he brands another man as a friend. If disliking bobbed hair proves a man to be a friend, there's an awful lot of friends around loose. Was A Man's letter one bit more insulting than the one written by the woman who said you could tell those that had stopped thinking by their dislike of bobbed hair? Yet she got by with her little barbed insult.

You'll notice there's a come back after each insulting letter; it's tit for tat. Both sides could read the enclosed verses with profit:

A frog looked down a deep old well,
And thought he'd play a joke;
Thought up a saucy thing to say,
And thus he harshly spoke.
"You ugly old frog," he hollered down,
And listened for reply;
"Ugly old frog," echo sent back,
The frog began to cry.
He hopped away where his mother sat,
And told her what he'd done;
His mother said with pained surprise,
"I'm ashamed of you, my son."
Hop back now to the deep old well,
And croak down something kind:
The answer you will always get,
Will be the same, you'll find."
The frog looked o'er the brink and said,
"Hello there, sweetheart true."
"Sweetheart true," echo sent back,
'Twill be the same with you.

There's plenty of room on the earth for both bobbed heads and unbobbed heads. Let them consider this and cool off. One side hasn't got any more of a monopoly on brains than the other. The same curry comb will fit all of them.—UNBOBBED.

THE SECOND MRS. STRONG

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Matthew Strong, realizing that his daughter Claudia is strongly under the influence of the gay young set, decides to marryag am he is attracted to Margaret Davenport, a woman in his own set, but her behavior at a dinner party disgusts him, and the thought that he would like a wife who could run his home as his secretary runs his office, arouses his interest in his stenographer, Julie Benton.

INSTALLMENT SIX.

The Unexpected Happens.

Two weeks after that initial dinner Matthew Strong asked Julie Benton to be his wife. During that time there had developed in Julie a dumb adoration for Matthew that she was unable to conceal. It looked shyly out of her eyes it changed her from the capable stenographer to the warmly palpitating woman and the knowledge that this girl looked up to him that she hung on his slightest word, was intoxicating to Matthew. He was flattered, and he mistook this feeling of gratified vanity for love. Julie did not realize that he was not in love with her. She was too much absorbed in her own feelings, too awed at this wonderful thing that had happened to her, and she was ready and willing to follow Matthew Strong to the end of the world if necessary.

Matthew himself was strongly imbued with the desire to lift this girl out of her sordid environment and give her the chance that she had always wanted. He was romantically interested in her, so much so that even a visit to her home in Flatbush failed to bring disillusionment. She was different from the rest. It was almost as though she did not belong to this terrible family, and he was kind and gracious, realizing that Julie was suffering keenly and that he must do all he could to spare her.

The whole family was assembled to meet Matthew. Ellen and Martha sat together on the couch. Whenever Matthew addressed them they giggled and tried to cover their embarrassment by making flippant remarks. Ellen was chewing gum frantically. She was determined not to be patronized and she kept trying to pattern her manner after Tom, who eyed Matthew suspiciously and said very little.

Mrs. Benton, wore a dress in honor of the occasion, but her large uncorseted figure reminded Matthew vaguely of a comic drawing. The two younger children evidently on their best behavior sat stiffly on their chairs and looked solemn. The occasion would have been funny if it hadn't been so serious.

Julie drew a long breath when it was over. There had been a moment in the dark hallway when, held close in Matthew's arms, she had forgotten everything. But the minute the door closed on him she became conscious of the smell of the boiled dinner that the family had enjoyed that evening. It permeated everything She knew what was expected of her, although she would have given anything for the chance of slipping upstairs to bed.

"Well, I must say he was certainly upstage," Martha flung out as Julie entered the room. "He doesn't seem to realize that, after all, we're related to you. Treated us like dirt."

"And not a word about money," from Mrs. Benton. "You'd thing if he cared so much for you, he'd want to help your mother to get along."

"We don't need his money," interposed Tom fiercely. "But it gets me to think that after all I did for Julie, she can treat us like this."

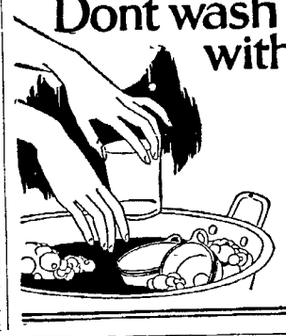

"But what have I done?" Julie interposed quickly.

"Yes, what ha you done?" mocked Ellen. "That's just it, you haven't done anything but make us all feel cheap. You'd think you were better than the rest of us. You've always tried to play the grand lady when you could help the rest of us you show us every plainly that you don't want anything more to do with us."

"That's not true," protested Julie. "I do want to help you. I want to do all I can." But even as she spoke science that she had been ashamed she realized with a stab of pain of them that evening. No wonder they felt as they did. And yet was it her fault that she wanted to be somebody while they didn't care? Surely she had a right to her chance!

Don't wash your hands with kitchen soap

Of course you wouldn't think of it! Yet when you use kitchen soap in your dishpan it's like washing your hands with it an hour and a half every day.

Use Lux for washing dishes. It is as easy on your hands as fine toilet soap. Lux won't redden or roughen your skin. It rids your hands of that in-the-dishpan look.

I Spent

Fortunes to win beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

My mother was rich and ambitious. From my earliest years she urged me to enhance my beauty. She gave me her methods and formulas. Then she took me on a world-search for the newer beauty helps.

Most people know the results. I became a famous beauty, and for many years I remained the rage. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, I still play a beauty's part. I still look a girl of 19.

Since then I have made many trips to France. I have consulted noted experts and famous beauties everywhere. I have spent fortunes to find all the latest discoveries. So I believe that I now have the greatest beauty helps in existence. And certainly my results seem to prove that.

I have been induced to place these helps at every woman's call. Druggists and toilet counters everywhere supply them—the very helps I use. Thus every woman may obtain for a trifle the helps that cost me fortunes.

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. Lucie Lantelme, the famous Parisian beauty, first told me what it did. Now leading beauty experts the world over are advising this great formula.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. So it cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, dead skin and cleaning matter come out with it A woman never knows what a clean skin means until she tries this Facial Youth

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth sells everywhere for 75 cents. Beauty experts charge up to $5 for the same effects

I shall be glad to send you a small bottle free if you will mail this coupon. It will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means My Beauty Book comes with it. Cut out the coupon now.

Many Mothers Weak, Nervous

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps to Restore Health

A great many letters similar to the following recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the new mother back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs, and can be taken in safety by a nursing mother.

Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Why not take it yourself?

Now Well Again

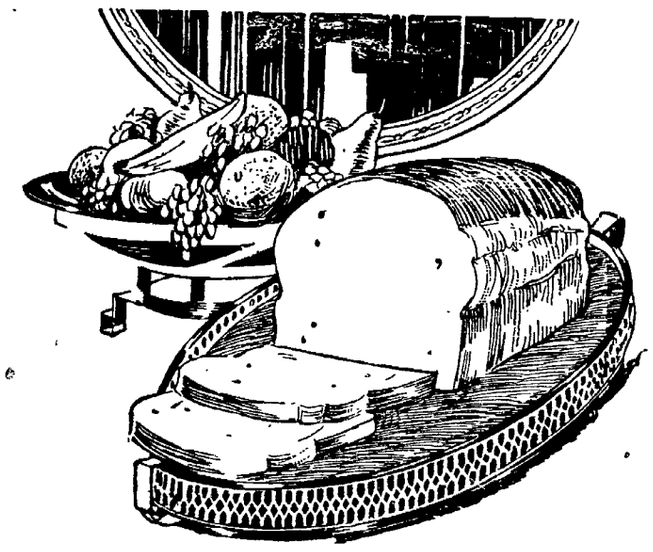

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"After I had my second child I felt sick and nervous and could not do much. Then after the other baby came I was worse than ever. I suffered this way for a long time and did not know what to do. I was looking over my cook books, and found one of your little books and I sat down and read every page. Then I bought a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it before I stopped, and now I am well again. I always recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN MITZKE, 778 8th Ave., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Buffalo, N. Y. — "My health got worse after my little girl's birth, and my mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had done her so much good. I had headaches and tired feelings, with no ambition, also pains at times so it hurt me to walk. With the Vegetable Compound I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I have been greatly helped. I do hope you will use my letter as a testimonial as it will help other women."—Mrs. GEORGE SHOEMAKER, 349 Emslie St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Followed Friend's Advice

Vienna, South Dakota.—"After my second child was born I was completely run-down and didn't care for anything. I had sharp pains in my sides and a white discharge and was nervous and weak. I didn't seem to care how I neglected my work. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it for two months the first time and one month the last time. It has helped me in a great many ways and the pains have left me entirely. I certainly wish you to know how much benefit I have received."—Mrs. G. W. FREEMAN, Vienna, South Dakota.

Such letters and a successful record of fifty years should convince every ailing woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine she needs. For sale by druggists everywhere.

He would always take your devotion lightly, and disport himself loosely and carelessly while you took the responsibilities of marriage heavily upon your own frail shoulders. He would hurt you continually with his indifference, his selfishness, raising you to the seventh Heaven by spasmodic love making, then leaving you in dull despair by his neglect.

But if you feel that you love him in spite of his unworthiness, if you continue to disregard self and hope only to win him for a permanent liability, then, for the sake of your own desires, cease wearing your heart on your sleeve. Play the game yourself. Learn to be wiley and sly. Win his interest by placing yourself apparently beyond his reach, by displaying to him other admirers and indifference when he expects your usual warm response. He is the sort of man who likes to be kept guessing, to whom the greatest joy lies in the chase, and to whom certainty is boresome.

The Same With You.

Dear Minerva: Squareheart has a flattering opinion of himself, hasn't he? How human he is. He loves everybody that thinks as he does and hates those who think differently. I think he's going a little bit too far when he brands another man as a friend. If disliking bobbed hair proves a man to be a friend, there's an awful lot of friends around loose. Was A Man's letter one bit more insulting than the one written by the woman who said you could tell those that had stopped thinking by their dislike of bobbed hair? Yet she got by with her little barbed insult.

You'll notice there's a come back after each insulting letter; it's tit for tat. Both sides could read the enclosed verses with profit:

A frog looked down a deep old well,
And thought he'd play a joke;
Thought up a saucy thing to say,
And thus he harshly spoke.
"You ugly old frog," he hollered down,
And listened for reply;
"Ugly old frog," echo sent back,
The frog began to cry.
He hopped away where his mother sat,
And told her what he'd done;
His mother said with pained surprise,
"I'm ashamed of you, my son."
Hop back now to the deep old well,
And croak down something kind;
The answer you will always get,
Will be the same, you'll find."
The frog looked o'er the brink and said,
"Hello there, sweetheart true."
"Sweetheart true," echo sent back,
'Twill be the same with you.

There's plenty of room on the earth for both bobbed heads and unbobbed heads. Let them consider this and cool off. One side hasn't got any more of a monopoly on brains than the other. The same curry comb will fit all of them.—UNBOBBED.

THE SECOND MRS. STRONG

By HAZEL DEVO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Matthew Strong, realizing that his daughter Claudia is strongly under the influence of the gay young set, decides to marryag ain he is attracted to Margaret Davenport, a woman in his own set, but her behavior at a dinner party disgusts him, and the thought that he would like a wife who could run his home as his secretary runs his office, arouses his interest in his stenographer, Julie Benton.

INSTALLMENT SIX.
The Unexpected Happens.

Two weeks after that initial dinner Matthew Strong asked Julie Benton to be his wife. During that time there had developed in Julie a dumb adoration for Matthew that she was unable to conceal. It looked shyly out of her eyes it changed her from the capable stenographer to the warmly palpitating woman and the knowledge that this girl looked up to him that she hung on his slightest word, was intoxicating to Matthew. He was flattered, and he mistook this feeling of gratified vanity for love. Julie did not realize that he was not in love with her. She was too much absorbed in her own feelings, too awed at this wonderful thing that had happened to her, and she was ready and willing to follow Matthew Strong to the end of the world if necessary.

Matthew himself was strongly imbued with the desire to lift this girl out of her sordid environment and give her the chance that she had always wanted. He was romantically interested in her, so much so that even a visit to her home in Flatbush failed to bring disillusionment. She was different from the rest. It was almost as though she did not belong to this terrible family, and he was kind and gracious, realizing that Julie was suffering keenly and that he must do all he could to spare her.

The whole family was assembled to meet Matthew. Ellen and Martha sat together on the couch. Whenever Matthew addressed them they giggled and tried to cover their embarrassment by making flippant remarks. Ellen was chewing gum frantically. She was determined not to be patronized and she kept trying to pattern her manner after Tom, who eyed Matthew suspiciously and said very little.

Mrs. Benton, wore a dress in honor of the occasion, but her large uncorseted figure reminded Matthew vaguely of a comic drawing. The two younger children evidently on their best behavior sat stifly on their chairs and looked solemn. The occasion would have been funny if it hadn't been so serious.

Julie drew a long breath when it was over. There had been a moment in the dark hallway when, held close in Matthew's arms, she had forgotten everything. But the minute the door closed on him she became conscious of the smell of the boiled dinner that the family had enjoyed that evening. It permeated everything. She knew what was expected of her, although she would have given anything for the chance of slipping upstairs to bed.

"Well, I must say he was certainly upstage," Martha flung out as Julie entered the room. "He doesn't seem to realize that, after all, we're related to you. Treated us like dirt."

"And not a word about money," from Mrs. Benton. "You'd thing if he cared so much for you, he'd want to help your mother to get along."

"We don't need his money," interposed Tom fiercely. "But it gets me to think that after all I did for Julie, she can treat us like this."

"But what have I done?" Julie interposed quickly.

"Yes, what have you done?" mocked Ellen. "That's just it, you haven't done anything but make us all feel cheap. You'd think you were better than the rest of us. You've always tried to play the grand lady when you could help the rest of us you show us every plainly that you don't want anything more to do with us."

"That's not true," protested Julie. "I do want to help you. I want to do all I can." But even as she spoke science that she had been ashamed she realized with a stab of conof them that evening. No wonder they felt as they did. And yet was it her fault that she wanted to be somebody while they didn't care? Surely she had a right to her chance!

AFTER BABY ARRIVES

Many Mothers Weak, Nervous

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps to Restore Health

A great many letters similar to the following recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the new mother back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs, and can be taken in safety by a nursing mother.

Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Why not take it yourself?

Now Well Again

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"After I had my second child I felt sick and nervous and could not do much. Then after the other baby came I was worse than ever. I suffered this way for a long time and did not know what to do. I was looking over my cook books, and found one of your little books and I sat down and read every page. Then I bought a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it before I stopped, and now I am well again. I always recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN MITZKE, 773 8th Ave., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"My health got worse after my little girl's birth, and my mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had done her so much good. I had headaches and tired feelings, with no ambition, also pains at times so it hurt me to walk. With the Vegetable Compound I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I have been greatly helped. I do hope you will use my letter as a testimonial as it will help other women."—Mrs. GEORGE SHOEMAKER, 349 Emslie St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Followed Friend's Advice

Vienna, South Dakota.—"After my second child was born I was completely run-down and didn't care for anything. I had sharp pains in my sides and a white discharge and was nervous and weak. I didn't seem to care how I neglected my work. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it for two months the first time and one month the last time. It has helped me in a great many ways and the pains have left me entirely. I certainly wish you to know how much benefit I have received."—Mrs. G. W. FREEMAN, Vienna, South Dakota.

Such letters and a successful record of fifty years should convince every ailing woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine she needs. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Don't wash your hands with kitchen soap

Of course you wouldn't think of it! Yet when you use kitchen soap in your dishpan it's like washing your hands with it an hour and a half every day.

Use Lux for washing dishes. It is as easy on your hands as fine toilet soap. Lux won't redden or roughen your skin. It rids your hands of that in-the-dishpan look.

Fortunes to win beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

My mother was rich and ambitious. From my earliest years she urged me to enhance my beauty. She gave me her methods and formulas. Then she took me in a world-search for the newer beauty helps.

Most people know the results. I became a famous beauty, and for many years I remained the rage. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, I still play a beauty's part. I still look a girl of 19.

Since then I have made many trips to France. I have consulted noted experts and famous beauties everywhere. I have spent fortunes to find all the latest discoveries. So I believe that I now have the greatest beauty helps in existence. And certainly my results seem to prove that.

I have been induced to place these helps at every woman's call. Druggists and toilet counters everywhere supply them—the very helps I use. Thus every woman may obtain for a trifle the helps that cost me fortunes.

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. Lucie Lantelme, the famous Parisian beauty, first told me what it did. Now leading beauty experts the world over are advising this great formula.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. So it cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, dead skin and clogging matter come out with it. A woman never knows what a clean skin means until she tries this Facial Youth.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth sells everywhere for 75 cents. Beauty experts charge up to $5 for the same effects.

I shall be glad to send you a small bottle free if you will mail this coupon. It will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. My Beauty Book comes with it. Cut out the coupon now.
